Eisenhower Asks 14 Taft-Hartley Changes, Requests 'Freeze' on Some Farm Surpluses

Calls Problems Serious, Urges Prompt Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower recommended today that 2½ billion dollars of present farm surpluses be "frozen" from regular markets and that the government move into a flexible farm price support program.

In a special message to Congress, the President said the agricultural problem is as "serious and complex" as any confronting the legislators.

"Immediate action is needed," he told them, "to arrest the growing threat to our present agricultural program and to prevent the subsequent economic distress that could follow in our farming areas."

Eisenhower also sent the lawmakers a separate message asking revision of the Taft-Hartley labor law. A major point of his request on this was for a provision requiring a vote of workers before a strike could be called.

These two programs—farm and labor—affect the two largest groups of voters in the nation.

As he did in his State of the Union message last week, the President said a flexible price support plan must be the back bone of new farm programs.

Eisenhower also said special emphasis in the future must be placed on efforts to develop foreign markets for agriculture's greatly expanded productive capacity.

Under his proposal to "freeze" certain surpluses, the excess supply of these commodities such as wheat and corn would be isolated from the market so as not to have a depressing effect on prices.

Such "frozen" stocks could not be sold to commercial users, farmers, exporters or to foreign buyers who ordinarily purchase in regular commercial channels. They could be used only for donation to the school lunch program, public institutions, relief, or earmarked for emergency stock piles.

These surpluses are already in governments hand through purchases under price support programs.

The President said he will ask Congress to increase the price support funds of the Commodity Credit Corp. from the present ceiling of 6¾ billion dollars to 8½ billion.

He said that because of the big

British Plane Explodes; 35 Believed Lost

List Includes Lima Woman; Crash Occurs Off Coast of Italy

PORTO AZZURRO, Elba (AP) — Two Americans were listed today among the 35 persons missing and feared dead in the crash of a British Comet jetliner in the Tyrrhenian Sea off Elba's Point Calamity.

A fishing boat recovered 15 bodies yesterday. Planes and ships kept up the search today for the other 20 aboard the Singapore-to-London pride of British air transport. The airship plunged into the sea yesterday morning between Elba, Napoleon's island of exile, and the Isle of Montecristo, of the northwest coast of the Italian peninsula.

American Identified

The government-owned British Overseas Airways, operator of the comet, identified the American passengers as Mrs. Dorothy Baker of Wilmette, Ill., and H. E. Schuchmann, of the MacMillan Publishing Co. of New York.

It was not immediately known if their bodies had been recovered.

Mrs. Baker, who lived in Lima, Ohio, was an official of the Baha'i Faith, which has its headquarters in Wilmette. Her family said she was on a speaking tour in India and the Far East for Baha'i, which advocates spiritual unity of mankind and universal peace.

Her husband, Frank, and mother, Dr. Louella K. Beecher, left Lima Friday to meet her at Trinidad. She also leaves a son, William, a student at the University of Illinois, and a daughter, Mrs. Hubert Matthias of Birmingham, Mich.

Both Mrs. Baker and Schuchmann had joined the flight in Kerachi, Pakistan.

There were 29 passengers and a crew of six aboard. This morning British Overseas Airways (BOAC) had not officially given them up for lost, but a top airline official in Rome said: "I believe there are no survivors."

Fishermen here said even if anyone survived the crash, they could not have lived long in the frigid waters.

Report Plane Exploded

Though BOAC officials in Rome and London were skeptical, a preliminary investigation today indicated the aircraft exploded in the air, killing those aboard in the blast.

One farmer told of hearing the explosion and seeing "pieces falling toward the sea," followed by another explosion and a flash of light. Elba's chief surgeon, after examining the recovered bodies, said they died from a concussion, with the force coming from below,

THE F3H-1 N, ALL-WEATHER JET FIGHTER PLANE, named the McDonnell Demon, taxis to a catapult position before taking off from the deck of the aircraft carrier Coral Sea during evaluation tests conducted somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean area. The plane, which the Navy says is now in production, is capable of doing more than 650 miles-per-hour. It is armed with 20 mm. cannon and carries many rockets and bombs.

One Provision Would Require Vote on Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to adopt 14 amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor law, including a provision that workers must vote approval of any strike before it can go into effect.

On the strike proposal the President recommended that before a union could order workers off their jobs the workers be required to approve the action in a secret government-held election.

Eisenhower's proposals contained some changes suggested by management and some asked by labor.

Among the presidential proposals was one that would give states more jurisdiction in labor disputes. Others would require employers to submit non-Communist affidavits as well as union leaders, and would remove some of the present restrictions against union boycotts and strikers.

Eisenhower called on Congress to make a "thorough study" of union welfare pension funds "with a view of enacting such legislation as will protect and conserve these funds for the millions of working men and women who are the beneficiaries."

There have been numerous suggestions from management and Congress members that such funds should have public supervision, similar to insurance regulations now in effect.

The President reiterated his conviction that the Taft-Hartley act is "sound legislation." But he said experience gained during the seven years the law has been in effect, indicates that changes are needed "to reinforce its basic objectives."

The President's recommendations appear to steer a middle course between the expressed desires of labor and management.

The proposal for a pre-strike poll of workers is not without precedent in American labor law.

The Smith-Connally act of World War II required assent from workers before they could legally go out on strike.

In suggesting the adoption of this provision as part of the Taft-Hartley act, Eisenhower said: "There is nothing which so vitally effects the individual employe as the loss of his pay when he is called on strike.

"In such an important decision he should have an opportunity to express his free choice by secret ballot held under government auspices."

In his discussion of welfare funds, the President noted the law

Children Safe As Minor Fire Damages Home

Short in Electrical Wiring Burns Hole In Dining Room Floor

A small fire caused by a short circuit in some electrical wiring gave occupants of the Marion County Children's Home a bit of excitment early this morning.

The blaze was discovered about 6:15 a.m. when Mrs. Pearl Barnhart, dining room supervisor, smelled smoke in the dining room and called Charles Skaggs, maintenance and repair man.

Skaggs in turn called Gene White, superintendent, and at 6:24 a.m. city firemen from the Central station were called out.

Children Prepared To Leave

Meanwhile, action was taken to prepare the children for evacuation from the building if necessary.

White said all were dressed and the boys and girls waited in their dormitories for a time. Later then they were moved into the living room when smoke began to get into the dormitories.

Plans were to take them from the building to a school bus and start the engine to keep them warm, White said. The home at present is quarantined for scarlet fever.

Short Circuit in Conduit

City firemen found the fire was caused by a short circuit in an electrical conduit under the dining room floor which supplies electricity to operate toasters in the dining room. One of the junction boxes in the floor had a direct short and became so hot it set fire to the wood floor, White said.

No estimate of the damage was made by city firemen, but they reported only a small section of the floor was burned. They cut two other small holes through the floor to find the fire. White said the burned area was small enough that it will cause no interruption of normal activities at the home.

In addition to city firemen, Marion County sheriff's deputies, city police, and state highway patrolmen were on hand to assist if needed.

Real Estate Tax Bills To Be Mailed

Real estate tax statements for the first half of 1953 are expected to be in the mail around Jan. 20, Marion County Treasurer Marion D. Hinklin announced today.

Tax books will open on the 20th and will close on March 1. During this period the treasurer's office in the courthouse will be open continuously from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Statements will be mailed to approximately 15,000 property owners in the city and county. Taxpayers may mail their checks in payment or may pay their taxes in personal visits to this office, Hinklin said.

County Budget For 1954 Now Being Readied

County commissioners are expecting to complete work today on 1954 appropriations which are expected to surpass the million-dollar mark.

Certification of money available for the county in 1954 for the general fund, the road maintenance and repair fund, and the dog and kennel fund, as released to commissioners last week by the county auditor's office, amounts to a total of $1,050,397.

A total of $572,642 has been certified for the general fund, $456,257 for the maintenance and repair fund, and $21,497 for the dog and kennel fund.

Budget requests made by the various county offices in July for 1954 operation totaled $630,423 and compares with the $572,642 certified for the general fund.

For 1953 commissioners approved appropriations of $938,894.

Morrow County Accident

2 Cardington Men Killed When Car Runs Into Pole

Two Cardington men were killed almost instantly when their car was demolished in a Morrow County accident early yesterday morning.

They were James Francis Burke Jr. and Jack Allen Brake, both 23.

The fatal accident occurred at 2:40 a.m. yesterday on State Route 529, about two and one-half miles west of Cardington and about one-half mile east of the Marion-Morrow county line.

According to the Marion post of the state highway patrol, the accident occurred along a straight stretch of highway. The car, driven by Burke, was going east when it went off the road on the right side where it went into a ditch and hit and broke off a utility pole, the patrol reported.

Both youths were pinned in the car and were pulled out by passers-by. The bodies were taken to the Curl Funeral Home in Cardington.

Both received fractured skulls, crushed chests and compound fractures of both legs.

Burke was born in Cardington on Dec. 23, 1930, the son of James Francis and Lillie Kramer Burke. A 1949 graduate of Cardington High School, he was an assembler at the Ranco Manufacturing Co. in Delaware.

Surviving Burke are his mother; a brother, William H. of Marion;

Airline, Gas Company Presidents Among Victims in Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A blazing plane crash killed the presidents of Braniff International Airways and Texas Eastern Gas Transmission Co. and 10 companions last night.

The plane smashed into an unoccupied house and burned for more than two hours. Ten wealthy passengers and two pilots returning from a weekend duck hunt in the Louisiana marshlands near the Gulf Coast were killed. There were no survivors.

The dead included airlines president Thomas Braniff of Dallas, Tex. and R. H. Hargrove of Shreveport, president of Texas Eastern, which operates the famed "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" gas pipeline to the East.

Marion Boy, 11, Loses Life in Pistol Accident

An 11-year-old Marion boy was fatally wounded late yesterday afternoon when he was accidentally shot by his stepfather.

Killed was Leonard Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lee Withers of 579 Adams St.

The accident happened about 5 p.m. while Leonard and his parents were watching a television program, according to a statement given police by the stepfather, Jacob Withers, 33.

Found Gun in Drawer

He said he got from his chair and went to a nearby buffet where he found a Belgian made 25 caliber automatic pistol in the drawer. The gun was not normally kept there and Withers picked it up to look at it, he told police. Just as he lifted it out of the drawer, it discharged and the bullet struck Leonard in the left chest just below the shoulder and foreward of his left arm.

After placing Leonard on a couch, Withers ran outside and stopped a taxicab driven by Edwin Laird of 285 Glad St. to take him to the hospital.

Heart Massage Fails

Police were then notified and dispatched a cruiser to escort the taxicab to the hospital, where the boy died a few minutes later despite efforts of a surgeon to save him by massaging his heart.

In his statement to police, Withers said he normally kept the gun in the bedroom and that he never

Would Cost Billion Dollars in Next 8 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche today outlined a billion dollar, eight-year construction program to give Ohio a highway system that 'will have no equal anywhere."

He will present the program personally at 2 p. m. on the opening day of a special session of the Legislature called by voters last November to implement an approved 500 million dollar bond issue to speed highway building.

82 Million in Bonds

The governor said improvements approved by the highway construction council called for issuing only 82 million dollars worth of bonds in 1954-55.

Revues from the bonds added to present highway department plans, he said, would give Ohio a 140 million dollar road building program for each of those years. Combine that with 125 millions spent each year in building the Northern Ohio Turnpike and the annual total would be 265 millions, he added.

"In my opinion," the governor said, "the 65 million dollars should not be exceeded at this time for the ability of our economy to provide manpower and materials may become overtaxed and thus result in waste and extravagance."

Additional Outlay

Looking towards construction of a privately financed second Ohio turnpike, the governor envisioned an outlay of about 260 million dollars more each year from 1956 through 1958. Expenditures would be less annually thereafter, he anticipated.

Key members of the Republican-controlled Legislature have said they would be guided by an expression of special session sentiment for or against a Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike with a spur to Toledo. The 400 million dollar toll road would intersect the 626 million dollar east-west turnpike, now under construction, near Cleveland.

Concluding his prepared address to Senate and House members, Lausche said:

"It is my belief that these programs, together with the eight year advance planning that is the basis of our long-range program, will result in the improvement of the major highways in the State of Ohio to the best extent possible

Neutral Group Seeks To Drop POW Problem

Commission Would Throw Question Back To Allies, Communists

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A high source said tonight the Indian command is considering a new plan to solve the critical problem of releasing war prisoners that has left the Indians in a blazing crossfire between Allies and Reds.

The source, whose name and nationality cannot be disclosed, said the formula is designed to bypass the issue of whether the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC) will free some 22,500 prisoners at midnight Jan. 22.

The Allies have demanded release of the POWs; the Reds have demanded they be held.

It is considered almost certain, that if the commission doesn't approve the release, anti-Red Koreans and Chinese will smash their way out of their neutral zone compounds.

The Indian proposal would throw the problem back to the Allies and the Reds themselves, the source said.

The source said the Indian plan is to turn the anti-Red prisoners back to the Allied side and the pro-Red prisoners back to the Communists. They would be held until the two commands agree to their disposition or until another neutral body is set up to handle the problem.

The source said Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the NNRC, will stipulate that should either side release its prisoners

Russia, U.S. Confer

Preliminary Talks Begin On Forming Atom 'Pool'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin began talks today on when, where and with whom the United States and Russia may negotiate on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Their first session, scheduled in Dulles' State Department office, was strictly private. Indications were that little or no information would be given out.

These are preliminary discussions on procedures for a full-dress conference later.

Dulles' main purpose is reportedly to try to determine whether the Soviet government is really sincere in its agreement to hold atomic discussions or whether it is merely going through the motions because of the pressures of world public opinion and the needs of Moscow propaganda.

Dulles was said to favor holding the later conference to a very small scale and to think there might be some advantages in holding it outside the United Nations, where all previous efforts to negotiate international atomic agreements with the Russians have failed.

There is no optimism in official quarters about the possibility of an agreement this time, but Dulles is described as determined to do everything in his power to remove any unnecessary obstacles

Detroit Police Spur Missing Witness Probe

Canadian Officials Help in Search for Key in Reuther Case

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, working against time, prepared a court move today to push the effort to track down his missing key witness in the Walter Reuther shooting case.

The prosecutor sought a warrant charging assault with intent to kill against ex-convict Donald Ritchie so that the full aid of Canadian police would be assured.

Need Federal Warrant

Provincial police of Ontario, where Ritchie apparently fled after eluding his police guards Friday in Detroit, said they could not make an active search for him without the formal warrant.

However, the Ontario police were reported on the alert. The home of Ritchie's mother and a girl friend were reported under surveillance.

O'Brien's move was the latest official step in the bizarre story of reputed secret confidences, fears of gangland vengeance on Ritchie, and then his sudden flight.

Skips Out

Ritchie, 33, named by O'Brien as the witness who implicated four other men in the shotgun attack on Reuther, skipped out as the state was completing its court case for presentation Thursday.

At that time Carl Renda, 35, one of the defendants, is to be examined on charges of conspiracy and assault. Renda has denied the charges.

O'Brien said that if Ritchie were not found the case against Renda and the other three might collapse.

The whereabouts of one of the latter trio, Santo (Sam) Perrone, father-in-law of Renda, still was unknown. Perrone has not been seen since before issuance of the charges last Wednesday.

Reported Angered

One unsupported rumor had it that Ritchie fled out of anger over a reference to himself in a newspaper as a "squealer." At the same time O'Brien said he feared Ritchie might be killed by gangsters if the police did not catch up with him.

The police search got aid from an unexpected quarter.

It came from Clarence Jacobs, Tecumseh, Ont. co-defendant whom Ritchie allegedly named as the triggerman in the attempt on the life of Reuther at the CIO leader's home the night of April 20, 1948.

Jacobs is Ritchie's uncle. In a jail cell appeal he asked his nephew to give up.

Like Renda, Jacobs has denied any connection with the attack. He is held without bond in Windsor.

Jacobs' lawyer, Ross L. Riddell, said his client appealed to Ritchie in this manner:

"You were no more there than I was. Come forward and tell the truth and tell the whole story. Surrender yourself wherever you are. I have nothing to fear."

India Requests U.N. Be Reconvened on Situation in Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — At the request of India, U.S. Assembly President Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit requested the U.N. today to poll all members on reconvening the Assembly Feb. 8 or 9 to deal with the Korean situation.

U.N. officials said they had received from Mrs. Pandit, sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, a formal request for such a poll. They said it would be done immediately. Approval of 31 of the 60 member nations is required before the Assembly can be reconvened.

In New Delhi, Indian officials insisted the action was not intended to delay the freeing of Korean War prisoners who have refused repatriation.

Ex-Communist Will Testify at Perjury Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—An ex-Communist from Dayton will resume his testimony today in the Federal District Court trial of Melvin Hupman, accused of lying when he swore he was not a Communist.

Hupman had signed a non-Communist affidavit as an officer of a Dayton local of the Independent United Electrical Workers Union.

John Mitchell, a card-carrying Communist from 1942-49 except when he was in the armed services, said Friday he had known Hupman as a party member.

Testifying for the federal government, Mitchell said he attended meetings of the Dayton Communist party in Hupman's home. He said Hupman was literature chairman for Dayton's Reds. He also testified Hupman had attended a Red-run school.

During Hupman's first trial in Dayton, his attorney, Marshall Perlin, told the jury the only government witness he could put any credence in was Mitchell.

Perlin made that statement in closing arguments to the jury, which then deadlocked over Hupman's guilt or innocence.

In the current trial, Mitchell explained he left the party because it "seemed to be butting its head against a stone wall and going round and round in circles."

Eagles' Head Pledges Clean Administration

CLEVELAND (AP) — Close to 700 Ohio officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles heard their national president yesterday promise that "never again will the grand aerie grow rich while the local aeries are impoverished."

Robert W. Hansen of Milwaukee also said "never again will there be people on the payroll of the Eagles called deputy auditor whose job was to be informer and policeman."

Hansen succeeded Matthew L. Brown of Springfield, who was ousted at the organization's convention in Indianapolis last year following a long controversy.

Mental Hospital Probationer Held After Fatal Beating

DENNISON, Ohio (AP)—A man released on probation from the Massillon State Mental Hospital was held today in the fatal beating of Clyde H. Johnson, 53-year-old clay worker.

Police said Steward Merryman, 24, smashed into Johnson's apartment Saturday, knocked him to the floor and then kicked him in the head. Johnson died in a hospital yesterday.

Merryman, held in the Tuscarawas County Jail at New Philadelphia, was admitted to the Massillon institution a year ago after attempting to commit suicide. He was later released on probation.

Johnson lived in an apartment with his mother and Merryman's mother. Police said Merryman threatened Johnson because he would not allow him to live in the same apartment with them.

County Recorder Collects $11,776 In Fees During '53

A total of $11,776 in fees was collected and paid into the county treasurer through the Marion County Recorder's office during 1953, a report released by Recorder A. L. Watt shows.

Of the total, $6,602 was paid to the office for recording deeds, mortgages, leases and other papers. Filing chattel mortgages, insurance licenses and other papers brought in $4,549, cancellations netted $479, and miscellaneous fees brought in $144.

Expenditures during the year amounted to $10,120, which was $144 less than the $10,265 appropriated. Of this amount $7,082 was for salaries of Watt and his deputy recorder. Stationery and supplies cost $3,028 and other expenses amounted to nine dollars.

The difference between fees collected for services and cost of operating the office inidcates a net profit of $1,656, Watt points out in his report. He adds that no county in Ohio has a smaller staff than the Marion County recorder's office.

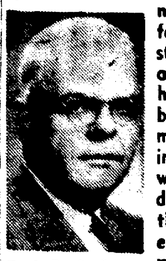
ACROSS THE COUNTER

Here's a true story. It happened in Western Nebraska, but it could just as well have been Mid-Ohio.

An enterprising farmer developed a feed product which the neighbors want for their livestock. Shortly after the war he built a brand-new feed mill. The fire insurance rate was high. He decided half the value was enough to carry. The business grew to 25 employees, and profits mounted.



Earl J. Andrews

A few months ago, it caught fire—burned to the ground. The owner had only $150,000 insurance, and a $300,000 plant. Due to the high income taxes, and high cost of construction, he couldn't afford to rebuild.

What is the result? First of all, 25 faithful employees were out of jobs. Second, the farmers lost a dependable source of good feed. Third, the government (through extra taxes) had much of the money which should have gone to an insurance company for adequate coverage. Last, the owner lost a major portion of his life savings. His "retirement" investment went up in smoke.

One look settles it—
Buy of the year is BUICK

HIGHEST-POWERED CAR at its price in America is the new 200-hp CENTURY — exemplar of Buick's outstanding values for 1954.

WE knew them for great automobiles the moment we saw them.

But it turns out we have a far bigger hit on our hands in the new 1954 Buicks than we ever figured.

Folks in a steady stream come into our showroom, look over these glamorous new beauties, and tell us — with signed orders—that Buick's the beautiful buy, hands down.

It's the biggest new-car excitement in a long, long time—and you ought to take a look at it, firsthand.

Because one look at the sensational new styling of these breath-taking Buicks shows them to be the freshest new automobiles in years.

One look into the modern interiors—and through that spectacular new back-swept windshield—firms the conviction.

One look at the new V8 power story, the new ride story, the new handling-ease story—practically wraps up the sale.

And then, one look at the prices — one eye-opening experience with the hottest values to be brought on the American automotive market in 1954 — clinches Buick as the buy of the year.

Come in and see for yourself—the sooner, the smarter.

NO OTHER CAR GIVES YOU ALL THIS:

GREATEST STYLING ADVANCE IN YEARS with completely new bodies across the board; lowered rooflines, longer and higher fender sweep, exclusive sweep-spear design

NEWEST VISIBILITY ADVANCE with back-swept windshields that give 19% more visibility; greater glass area around full 360° arc

BIGGEST VENTILATION ADVANCE in Buick interior comfort: new, screened intake just below windshield brings in huge quantities of outside air at hood-high level, freer of road heat and fumes

HIGHEST V8 HORSEPOWERS in Buick-history — from advanced vertical-valve V8 engines with up to 8.5 to 1 compression and 200 hp — plus more fuel efficiency from new Power-Head Pistons

FINEST, MILLION DOLLAR RIDE — from all-coil springing, torque-tube drive, longer wheelbases — and a new front-end geometry that stabilizes "cornering," insures more positive control, more responsive handling

Officials of Airline To Visit Marion On Inspection Trip

Management officials of Lake Central Airlines will visit Marion in the near future as part of an evaluation trip around the line's air route.

The announcement was made Saturday afternoon by Gwin Hicks, special assistant to the president of Lake Central, when he met with a group of Marion persons interested in local air service.

Hicks said that the company's vice presidents in charge of traffic, operations, sales and treasury, and other management officials would meet with local aviation leader to discuss the problems and service of Lake Central and local service air carriers in general.

Hicks also announced that Lake Central is currently negotiating with Trans-World, Capital and Alleghany airlines to expedite making reservations for people transferring between Lake Central and any one of the other lines.

He also discussed briefly the study of local air service in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan which is being made by universities in that three-state area under the leadership of Purdue University.

Attending Saturday's meeting at the Marion Municipal airport were Hicks, who was in town to address a meeting of the Marion Power Shovel Foremen's Club that evening; Charles Reifsnyder, manager of the Marion airport; David McMahan, local manager for Lake Central; Harry A. Dowler, chairman of the Avaiation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; and Robert A. White and Dale Schmidt, president and cashier, respectively, of the National City Bank which operates a travel bureau and handles airline reservations.

Truck Driver's Condition Fair, Hospital Says

Malvin Edward Beers, 42-year-old Marion truck driver who was seriously burned in a fatal accident Friday night near Carey, was reported in "fair" condition this morning at Wyandot Memorial Hospital in Upper Sandusky.

Beers suffered first and second degree burns on his face, hands and legs after the cab of his truck caught fire following a collision with a car in which two Kentucky brothers met death.

The bodies of the victims, Jesse May, 26, of Kemper and James May, 43, of Pikeville have been taken from the Bristoll and Goff Funeral Homes in Carey to the Baker Funeral Home in Pike County, Ky., where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Both men had reportedly gone to Detroit, Mich., the first of last week to hunt for jobs and were on their way home at the time of the accident. They were coal miners.

The collision of the truck and car occurred on Route 23 approximately two miles south of Carey at 10:20 p.m. Friday.

Both men were born in Pike County, Ky., Jesse on Jan. 27, 1927 and James on Aug. 21, 1910, the sons of Washington and Sarah Dixie May.

The parents and eight brothers and sisters, Robert L., Charles R., Okie Lionel, William J., Mrs. Fannie Smith, Mrs. Hazel Layne, all of Pike Co., and Mrs. Maxine Preston of Columbus and Mrs. Garnet Farson of Ashland, Ky., survive. One sister preceded them in death.

Court 'Meddling,' Lockland Church Says, Fights Order

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Lockland Baptist Church, charging state meddling with religious affairs, will battle a court edict to take back a belligerent member.

About 2,000 members unanimously agreed last night to appeal the decision of Common Pleas Court Judge M. Renner. He ordered the church last Tuesday to extend the "hand of fellowship" to Mrs. Mary Randolph, 51.

The Cincinnati housewife was expelled from the church on the grounds she gossiped about it, criticized the leaders and failed to attend Sunday School services.

Renner said these accusations, even if true, were not sufficient reasons for ousting her according to the church's own constitution.

Too Hot for Projector

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"Ten Days in a Nudist Camp" proved too hot for a theater's movie projector.

Firemen said the film accidentally caught fire while being shown and heavily damaged about $35,000 worth of supposedly "fireproof" projection equipment.

Many Attend Family Night Program at 'Y'

Approximately 25 families numbering about 100 persons attended Family Night program Saturday night at the YMCA.

Following a supper and period of singing around the table, games were played under the direction of Marvin Ludwig, men and boys secretary, and Mrs. George Taylor, girls and women's secretary. Later the group went swimming.

Although Saturday nights have been open to families for the past several weeks, the event was the first in which dinner was served.

It was decided that Family Nights will be held every Saturday night from 7 to 9 p.m. and that on the first Saturday of each month, a supper would be held preceding the program at 6 p.m. Discussion was held after the supper as to what the families wanted included in the Family Night Program.

The Robert Byrd family was in charge of the devotions period. Ralph Carhart was master of ceremonies for the program.

Mailmen Petition Burke For Increases in Salary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mailmen are Sen. Burke's most enthusiastic letter writers.

They want to know if the new Ohio senator can help them get a pay increase. The Postoffice Department is studying its salary schedules to decide whether to submit a proposal to Congress for higher pay.

Aside from the mailmen, Ohio's first Democratic senator since 1946 is getting a good many letters asking how he stands on the Taft-Hartley act and the Bricker amendment. The latter would limit the President's treaty-making powers.

"But these writers just seem curious," says Clark Shepard, aide to Burke. "They don't take any positions themselves."

To all of these questions, Burke replies he wants time to see how they develop in Congress.

There is one subject on which Burke has expressed disagreement with his Republican colleague, Sen. Bricker. That is the St. Lawrence Seaway proposal.

Burke is for it. Bricker voted against it once and his office says his position hasn't changed.

While Burke was talking with Bricker in Bricker's office the other day—preparatory to being sworn in — a reporter asked a Bricker aide if the senator had a statement to make by way of welcoming Burke as his new colleague.

The aide grinned and replied: "Are you naive? Burke is a candidate for election. What can Sen. Bricker say?"

Later, just as Burke and Bricker were about to enter the Senate chamber, a photographer asked them to talk to each other while he snapped their picture. Both continued looking straight ahead. Said Bricker: "All right, let's go."

Rep. Ollie Bolton (R-Ohio) is driving one of those sporty little British autos. He says he likes it because it is economical and "easy to park" in Washington, where parking spaces are hard to find.

"The Taft Story," a biography of the late senator, will be published by Harpers in March, first since his death. The author, William S. White of the New York Times' Washington staff, says the book portrays Taft as "perhaps our greatest parliamentarian. But there are parts, too, that show he had what I consider grave shortcomings, particularly in foreign policy."

News of Granges

MONTGOMERY

A turkey supper was held recently at a meeting of Montgomery Grange in DeCliff with approximately 70 people attending.

Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bloomingdale, Mrs. Cletus Uhl, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snare.

Paul Snare, master, was in charge of the business meeting during which it was decided to serve a farm sale lunch at the Alonzo Granger farm. Proceeds are to go to the Magnetic Springs Foundation. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wenig are chairmen of the committee in charge. Other members are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Courtad, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Murphy, Mrs. Uhl and Mabel Brady.

Dorothy Snare, lecturer, gave a report on a recent Grange lecturer's meeting at the courthouse. The program in charge of Lois Snare, matron, consisted of an exercise on Christmas by Nancy Oborn, Larry and Tommy Uhl, Marilyn and Marjorie Snare; and the singing of Christmas carols. Santa Claus appeared and passed out presents and treats.

WOMAN EDITOR AND RESCUERS. Miss Rebecca Gross, editor of the Lock Haven, Pa., Express, meets with four people who probably saved her life when they applied tourniquets to her legs after they were cut off in a New Year's eve auto accident. She is shown with the people in a Williamsport hospital where she is recovering and already plans towards resuming her active newspaper career. Left to right (standing): Alfred A. Park, George M. Town in Pike County Expected To Grow 20 Times Its Old Size

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pike County planners hope the atomic-plant building boom will not leave a ghost town in its wake.

The county planning commission expects the once placid farming community of Waverly to grow to more than 20 times its former size by July 1958. Says Dewitt H. Wyatt, county building inspector:

"We are making a real effort to enforce the (building) code and keep the county clean and free from any shanty town complex. Shanty towns normally are followed by ghost towns on a boom-and-bust cycle."

In a report to the Ohio Valley Chapter of the American Institute of Planners, Wyatt estimates Waverly and environs will have a population of 40,000 by July 1958. The village of Waverly had a population of 1,697 in the 1950 census. Piketon had 768. The entire county had a population of 14,607.

Wyatt said Piketon, located only 3½ miles from the atomic plant site, will suffer the worst "growing pains." Piketon has not yet adopted the Pike County building code, and Wyatt said there was likely to be considerable "undisciplined construction" there.

Since the planning commission began operating in November 1952, permits have been issued primarily for private enterprise directly connected with the atomic boom. But Wyatt says "many construction interests are developing through the momentum of publicity that is setting up the county as a top level potential manufacturing district."

He added, "This private phase of construction will, in our opinion, accelerated as private industry announces land acquisitions in Pike County."

He estimated the building increase represented by construction permits issued through December 1953, would boost the county tax duplicate five million dollars.

State Tax Commissioner John W. Peck listed the 1952 real estate and utilities tax duplicate for Pike County at $18,974,040.

Effects of the boom are expected to take Lake White out of the "resort" classification. The population a year ago was 300. In the last few months some 40 permits have been issued for new homes at the lake.

A Diet of Red Herring

We can understand why former President Truman is tired of red herring. It has proved to be political poison for him and his party.

But in view of the lame attempt of a columnist to make it appear that Mr. Truman was misquoted in 1948 when he called congressional investigation of Communists in government a "red herring," here are the facts, ma'am — just the facts:

When the public airing of Communists began in 1948, following Elizabeth Bentley's disclosures, Mr. Truman angrily refused to let investigators look at records on William Remington, one of the Bentley woman's former pals.

On Aug. 5, Mr. Truman agreed with a press-conference questioner who asked him if he thought the congressional investigations were a "red herring." To make sure he was not misunderstood, Mr. Truman later scoffed at a charge by Rep. Mundt of S. Dakota that reds were working "right now" in Washington. They were.

On Aug. 19, Mr. Truman again went out of his way to blast the congressional investigators. He pooh-poohed the idea there were any reds in the government and again refused to let the investigators look at records. One of the men named as a red, Lee Pressman, who later admitted he had been a Communist card-bearer, bleated that the whole thing was a "shameful circus."

Then on Dec. 9, 1948, Mr. Truman clinched his sorry record by repeating once more at a news conference that the House un-American Activities Committee probe was a "red herring." By that time, there had been a national election. The Democrats were back in control of the House. Mr. Truman was feeling his political oats. His party's first move would be to knock the un-American Activities Committee in the head for having turned the spotlight on a political scandal.

Meanwhile, Rep. Nixon was frantically trying to tie up the case against Alger Hiss before the red-coddling Democrats could get back in control of Congress the next month. He succeeded with the help of the famous "pumpkin papers." Hiss went to jail and Nixon went to the Senate and subsequently to the vice presidency of the United States.

It's easy to understand why Harry Truman and associates wish they had never heard of red herring.

When the Reds Turn Blue

A dispatch from Belgrade tells why Communists eventually must die on the vine.

One of the top reds in the capital of Yugoslavia, the Belgrade dispatch relates, wants to do away with cell meetings called to feed members the party line. He says this is unnecessary because the Communists no longer are carrying on a revolution but are running a government.

They don't need Moscow any more.

It was for this reason that Tito made his break with the Kremlin — because the Kremlin was running a revolution while he was trying to run a country.

The one thing about the Kremlin line which distinguishes it from straight socialism — violence based on party discipline — ceases to be of interest once the time for violence has passed.

The Yugoslav Communists question whether the Kremlin's domination ever was justifiable. They think it was something thought up by Stalin, who now is being purged from the memories of the people he once terrorized, along with Beria, his chief terrorist.

Stalin knew how to run a revolution, but nothing else.

The Communist conspiracy offers nothing for the long pull. There is no such thing as endless revolution.

Pressure Contest

The first decision awaiting the Senate after Hawaiian statehood either is granted or postponed is the St. Lawrence seaway. A bill providing for constructing a part of the project passed the House last session.

This is a battle of pressure blocs and pressure within pressure blocs.

The question of the seaway itself could be cleaned up and disposed of by Congress in one afternoon. But that isn't the real question.

The real question is whether or not railroads which do not want competition from a St. Lawrence seaway and the electric power industry can make their peace with advocates of the seaway project.

If they can't—and if they continue to control key votes in the Senate—there will be no seaway as far as the United States is concerned.

As far as Canada is concerned—and it's as vitally concerned as the United States—there is going to be a seaway regardless of what the United States does or does not do. If Congress cannot resolve the issues and reach a decision to help build the St. Lawrence seaway, Canada will build it alone, using large amounts of American private capital.

It would be a significant monument to the power of pressure blocs if the Canadians finally had to do what a vast majority of Americans were kept from doing by minorities who know how to thwart the people's will.

No Shortage of Ideas

By Edward K. Nellor

Ike May Set Record for Legislative Ideas

President Eisenhower may set a record for legislative recommendations during the present session of Congress.

Veteran hired hands on staff committees of Congress can't recall any previous president forewarning legislators on such a large number of proposals that are on the way to Capitol Hill.

Mr. Eisenhower, in his state of the union address, hit the highlights of his legislative ideas and in almost every instance in which he mentioned the need for changes in the law he promised Congress the details would soon be on the way.

Many will be included in his budget message due on January 21. Dozens of other suggested changes, however, will start pouring down on congressional heads almost immediately, lasting through the end of this month.

On January 28, for instance, the President in his economic report will ask for changes in credit and debt management policies, plus 11 other economic problems, which, according to the President, "implies a vast amount of study, planning, and coordination," to make the nation's economic program complete.

Hanging fire for congressional consideratinn also are the President's recommendations on foreign assistance and trade, on which he did not mention a date for submission to Congress, other than to say it would be soon.

Also, he will submit to Congress corrective suggestions for the nation's standby military forces, new mobilization plans, new internal security measures, 25 recommendations on taxes, and , on January 14, he will submit to 14 various congressional committees legislative changes in social problems, such as health, old age insurance and disabled veterans' and unemployment payments.

Four days later, on January 18, a special message will arrive for the lawmakers from the White House, dealing solely with the problem of the nation's health.

On January 25 the President has another special message for Congress, setting forth recommended changes in almost every law affecting public and private housing construction.

On a "from time to time" basis, Mr. Eisenhower forecast for Congress a word from him on the nation's conservation, public land and strategic metal policies.

He is also awaiting the completion of a study by the commission on intergovernmental relations, before informing Congress and state governors what he wants in the way of a national highway program.

About the only things left over from the previous session of Congress that Mr. Eisenhower seems satisfied with are the reorganization policy now in effect for the Postoffice Department and in the Veteran's Administration. He did, however say certain classes of mail postage should be increased.

Congressional clerks who keep track of such things say it will be several days before they can run an accurate check to determine if the President set a new record of suggestions for a session of Congress.

One thing is apparent. After months of planning, the President and his advisers obviously concluded that few major laws on the statute books affecting government operation were 100 per cent effective. Thus the rash of suggested alterations, enough to keep Congress in debate material for many months to come.

All of the President's requests will be routed to various committees, where they will be considered and political lines drawn over their worth or lack of it. The sound and fury will come later when the bills are presented for passage.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

John E. Davids was one of the early members of the Marion bar, having been a student of General James H. Godman from 1838 until 1842, when he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of Ohio. After three years' practice he turned to the mercantile business which he followed until 1867 when he returned to law. In October of that year he was elected a justice of the peace, and by successive elections held the office for many years. He was made a notary public in 1848, served as mayor of Marion from 1858 to 1861 and served six years on the board of education, two of which he served as president.

When It All Began

By TRUMAN TWILL

Someone with a good memory points out thot it has been 40 years since Henry Ford kicked the slats out of the Karl Marx, as far as the United States was concerned.

As far as the rest of the world was concerned, the industrial revolution was permitted to go up a blind alley, where the Marxists have been taking ruthless advantage of its productivity ever since.

What Ford did in 1914 seems so simple now no one can understan l why it took so long for him to think of it. But he did think of it and had the courage to take the verbal beating that it caused him to get from his critics. For his pains he saw the industrial revolution turned to the benefit of the ordinary run of Americans.

Ford is usually honored as the founder of mass production. But his big idea was mass buying power. Without that, mass production would have been a grim joke. Only a few thousand Americans would have been able to buy the Tin Lizzies that came squirting from the Ford assembly lines.

Many Americans do not know in 1954 that in 1914 Henry Ford startled the United States and much of the world by announcing that he would pay a minimum of $5 a day to his employes. The best a man could do before that was $3 a day. Average weekly earnings in manufacturing had hung between $8 and $11 for a quarter of a century.

In 1914, the national average went over $11 for the first time. Five years later the average had doubled. Statisticians can point out that wages hadn't changed appreciably in buying power, but statisticians to the contrary notwithstanding, people did begin to buy Fords. Something changed.

As others realized the potentialities of Ford's idea for keeping mass production from running out of customers, people began to buy Chevies, Plymouths, washing machines and everything else that kept squirting out of the terminal points of mass-production industries.

The poor Marxist never had thought of the possibility that ordinary people not only would be able to buy the fruits of their labor but also would be able to invest money in the tools of production. They were caught between wind and water. Old Karl, who had died in 1883, couldn't have imagined such a thing.

His disciples were and still are caught in the fantastic predicament of trying to sell Americans a nostrum for a disease they never had. The way things turned out here, if you call anyone a member of the proletariat you'd better smile.

Even our down - and - outers prefer to think of themselves as members of the middle class temporarily embarrassed for funds. As soon as they quit being embarrassed, they intend to buy an automobile. Or as the joke used to go in the depression days, when things were only 100 times as good in the U.S.A. as elsewhere, instead of 200 times as good, they aim to pick up their relief checks in the best car they can afford.

There has been a lot of nonsense printed about Henry Ford. He was bowled over eventually, as most over-publicized men are, by his clippings.

But he was single - handedly responsible for the biggest idea of the industrial revolution—that if it was going to be useful to mankind it must enable producers to become consumers and investors.

Some other smart fellow eventually would have thought up the assembly-line method of making automobiles. But it took a genius in 1914 to raise day wages to a $5 minimum so millions of ordinary people could believe they, too, would be able to buy an automobile. Millions did buy them and a lot of other stuff, to the consternation of pinkos.

Some May Day in Detroit when the pinkos are adopting resolutions there should be a parade in honor of the American mechanic who made a sucker of the German intellectual who was so all-fired sure there wouldn't be anything to share in the industrial age but poverty.

Label Doesn't Make Book Scientific

By Raymond Moley

This columnist is interested in the notorious Kinsey report for only one reason. The immense popular concern in its findings and the devastating criticism of its scientific pretensions may awaken people to the dangers in such pseudo - scientific researches in political and economic affairs. For the same sort of nonsense has been peddled to a gullible public in matters less sensational than sex.

THERE IS in the news at the moment a scathing criticism of Kinsey, his facts and his "conclusiions" therefrom by two men whose training and achievements entitle them to be heard.

They are Edmund Bergler, M.D., a psychonalytic psychiatrist, and William S. Kroger, M.D., a gynecologist. Their book is called "Kinsey's Myth of Female Sexuality."

Most of what the authors say in the book is irrelevant to the point that I want to make and, in fact, seems to wander into the same never-never land of murk which Kinsey inhabits. But these doctors are sufficiently familiar with science and statistics to make a few points which in my judgment explode the entire pretention of science in the Kinsey report.

THE FOLLOWING is the most significant passage in the Bergler-Kroger book: "All these insuperable barriers to getting at real facts are complicated and made even more formidable by the faulty composition of Kinsey's material.

To name only a few proofs of faulty representation:

"a. Seventy - five per cent of his female volunteers have attended college; in reality, only 7.5 per cent of American women go to college.

"b. Out of the 5,940 women interviewed, 3,313 had never married. That is 58 per cent of the total sample. This makes three times as many spinsters per hundred as are actually found in the female population of the United States.

"c. Around 60 per cent of these interviewed belonged (at least tangentially) to the upper white-collar and professional groups; this does not correspond at all to actual population groupings.

"d. Devout religious groups (both Catholics and Jewish) were not sufficiently represented; their sexual attitudes would have considerably changed Kinsey's statistics.

"e. Regional representation was also faulty; only ten states were included in the sampling.

"Kinsey's basic procedure contains, therefore, a methodological error of the first magnitude, which automatically cancels out all his conclusions."

PROFESSOR A. H. Hobbs, whose remarkable book, "Social Problems and Scientism," attacks the Kinsey conclusions in a slightly different way:

"However, if the conclusions about sexual behavior which are emphasized in the Kinsey report are to be accepted, some other conclusions which are derived from projecting its sample to the total male population must also be accepted.

"If the public is to accept Professor Kinsey's conclusions, they must also believe that:

"a. There are no married Catholic or Jewish men in the United States!

"b. Forty - five per cent of the men in the United States between the ages of 20 and 50 are either widowed or divorced!

"c. Seven per cent of all gainfully occupied males are engaged in prostitution, i.e., that there are some 2,000,000 male prostitutes in the United States-"

This disposes of Kinsey and, by the same method of attack, a lot of other nonsense published in the name of social science can easily be disproved.

White House Ghosts

By James Morgan

Some people were a little surprised at the frankness with which President Eisenhower told of his conference with advisers and speech-writers, in preparation for his State of the Union message Thursday. The following is a report on the situation made by the Boston Globe's expert on such matters.

—:—

Ghost writing is as old as George Washington and as contemporary as Dwight Eisenhower.

The only difference is that in our time it has ceased to be ghostly.

Ghost writers no longer are skeletons hidden in a closet. They have taken on flesh. They belong to an acknowledged trade.

Radio and television humorists merely read script prepared by their paid writers, who have no other occupation.

As we read or listen to the speech of a public man we are diverted from what he says by the question of who wrote each section of his speech. Producing oratory has become an assembly line job with many hands at work on it.

HISTORICAL research has been busy more than a century and a half with the problem of how much Hamilton and how much Madison ghosted Washington's farewell address. The father of his country is credited with little or none of the authorship.

Did President Monroe write any of that part of his message which posted a no trespassing sign clear across our half of the world? Or was it wholly the product of his secretary of state, John Quincy Adams?

Andrew Jackson was incapable of framing any of the state papers in his administration, but he may not have been quite the illiterate his predecessor, John Quincy Adams, said he was, in his denunciation of Harvard for conferring a degree on "a barbarian who could not write a sentence of grammar and hardly could spell his own name."

OLD HICKORY at least knew what to say, if he didn't know just how to say it.

William Henry Harrison didn't have a ghost writer, but a ghost editor in the person of his secretary of state, Daniel Webster. After Daniel had waded with a pruning knife through the flowers of rhetoric in Old Tippecanoe's inaugural he was so exhausted that his landlady anxiously inquired what had happened. "Madam," Webster replied, "within 12 hours I have killed 17 Roman proconsuls—dead as smelts, every one of them."

Abraham Lincoln needed no ghost writer and had none in the preparation of the Gettysburg Address or that sublimest of state papers, the second inaugural.

Before he achieved those immortal masterpieces there was a lack of poetic imagination in his style, which his secretary of state, William H. Seward, supplied in the concluding pasages of two historic documents:

THE APPEAL in the first inaugural to "the mystic chords of memory" and the invocation of the Divine Blessing on the proclamation emanciating the slaves.

One of Lincoln's private secretaries, John Hay, told the English statesman, John Morley, that he (Hay) not only wrote the tribute to Mrs. Bixby on her reported sacrifice of sons on the altar of freedom, but that he also imitated the president's penmanship.

That may be the secret of the failure of collectors to find the original manuscript of a famous letter, a framed copy of which hangs in a College of Oxford, as an example in English.

George Harvey is the reputed ghost writer of President Harding's inaugural, two of whose phrases have passed into common speech, "The Founding Fathers" and "Normalcy."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt brought ghost writing out into the open with Robert Sherwood and Judge Rosenman, stars of his numerous trope. That president was a master of imparting his own touch to the products of others.

Unless a public man has that rare gift, ghosts will creep between the lines of his every 'ghosted' speech to the distraction of listeners and readers.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

That $160,000 Theft

A prompt solution of that 160,000 dollar yuletide theft of money from the United States Bureau of Engravings spoiled the script for us. The explanation that the crime occurred "at a time when so many people were entering and leaving with Christmas and New Year packages that the customary check on bundles was omitted, "filled us with ideas of an office-party atmosphere behind it all. In our fancy we had seen a boss appear smilingly and cry, "Are you boys and girls getting everything you want?"

—:—

We had dreamed it up this way: The joint is jumping with the yuletide spirit. The usual strangers have dropped in. Everybody is in the festive mood. Even the chiefs in a Bureau of Printing & Engraving have let down a little and the cries of "Noel! Noel!" ring through the place. Nobody is really worrying about a mere item of money. "What's in those pretty envelopes?" asks a young lady. "Oh, those! Just packages of twenty dollar bills," somebody answers cheerily. "Wannatry one?" (You know how things go in the yuletide atmosphere.) Possibly the young woman says, "I've had enough." "Oh, be a good sport. Have another." she is urged. "Do you think I should?" . . ."Sure. We want everybody to have a good time." . . ."Oh, I'll bet you say that to all the girls!" etc., etc.

—:—

Or we can imagine, in the true office-party mood, two strange men entering by mistake. Maybe they couldn't tell a Bureau of Engraving from the old RFC office. They greet the boss with a hearty, "Hello, Mr. Puddicombe." That isn't his name, but at an office party nobody is too sure of anything. Even the man addressed as Puddicombe isn't too positive. He knows it is no time for a Scrooge approach. This is Christmas and New Years! "Merry Christmas and a happy New Year to everyone! What'll you boys have?"

"What have you got?"

"Boys, we've got everything."

"We'll mosey around and help ourselves."

"That's the spirit."

(At this point all three are bumped by some fellow hurrying past and toting a few packages containing $10,000 each. Nothing really dishonest. Just thought they were office party souvenirs.)

"Leaving so soon? Aw, stick around. The fun's just beginning," says the host.

"Gee, I'm sorry but I've got all I can carry"

"Can't take it any more, eh?"

"I'm sort of tapering off."

"Well, I wish you a prosperous New Year."

"Mister, I'm certainly trying!"

Bing Crosby made his first TV appearance the other night. . . .He remained strikingly calm and cool for a fellow facing another terrific rise in taxable income. . . .The new head of Minneapolis-Honeywell, a heat regulating company, is named Sweat. . . .Hialeah Park opens with a brand new $2,500,000 superdooper clubhouse to hold 7,000 people. . . . It has a dining room for 800. . . .We understand President Eisenhower is such a golf enthusiast that he dates his letters "Nineteen Fifty Fore." . . .The Duchess of Windsor has dropped from first to tenth place on the list of Best Dressed Women. . . .Some British style magazine will lose a subscriber. . . . Why all the criticism of that football player who leaped off the bench and tackled a player on his way to a touchdown? . . .Adlai Stevenson does that against Eisenhower every few days. . . .The FCC has dropped charges against three top soap companies for illegal trade practices. . . .This cleans up that matter. . . .Special weeks for 1954 include a National Kraut & Frankfurter Week, an Odorless Decorations Week, a National Honey for Breakfast Week and a National Save a Horse Week. . . .Our suggestion for a National for the Birds Week has been rejected. . . .Whatever became of that move to deport Serge Rubenstein? . . .Jess Willard celebrated his birthday—somewhere in the seventies—the other day.

Mao No Tito, Judd Declares

Congressman Calls For New China Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Judd (R-Minn) contended today that, far from supporting the seating of Mao Tse-tung's Communist Chinese government in the United Nations, the United States should concentrate on making him fail in China.

"Mao conceivably might pull away from the Kremlin, if through following its guidance he began to fail — and the first aim of our foreign policy in Asia should be directed toward that end," Judd declared in a copyrighted article written for the magazine U. S. News & World Report.

Judd struck out against what he called "the myth" that "if we will just be nice enough to the Chinese Communists, we can detach from them the Russian Communists . . . or we can make a Tito out of Mao Tse-tung." The congressman, a former medical missionary in China, argued:

"There is no evidence that Mao Tse-tung would be a Tito if he could. He is as loyal a satellite as the Kremlin has ever had."

44 Families in Oregon Threatened by Landslide

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — A close watch was kept today on a sliding hillside in this Oregon coastal town.

Thirty-four families have had to leave their homes on the water-soaked hill since it began slipping last Tuesday. City officials said they feared the slide area was spreading.

The Red Cross has designated the hillside a disaster area and Gov. Paul Patterson has ordered an investigation to determine if federal aid should be requested.

FIRE TRUCK BURNS

MEDICINE LAKE, Mont. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed this tiny town's fire hall and only fire truck yesterday.

Curry Spice Perks Up Many Dishes

For a different background seasoning next time you serve chicken, use curry spice. Containing 10 to 15 different spices, curry powder can also be used to flavor fish or egg casseroles, cheese souffles or rarebits, vegetables or tomato soup.

To prepare fried chicken curry, use 1½ to 2½ lb. cut-up fryer chicken, ½ cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, ½ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, ¼ teaspoon ground ginger, ¼ cup fat, 2 cups finely chopped peeled apple, one-third cup chopped onion, ½ cup grated fresh or canned coconut, 2 cups chicken broth or water, ½ cup top milk, 3 cups cooked rice (1 cup raw).

Roll chicken in flour and seasonings mixed together. Set aside leftover flour for gravy. Brown chicken on all sides in the fat in a skillet. Cover skillet and continue cooking until chicken is tender (about 20 to 30 minutes). Remove chicken from skillet. Keep hot while preparing gravy.

Add apples, onions and coconut to drippings. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until onion is transparent. Add ¼ cup flour (the left-over seasoned flour plus additional flour if necessary). Cook until bubbly. Stir in broth and top milk. Cook stirring constantly until thickened.

Season with additonal curry and salt if desired. If apples are very sweet and mild flavored add a teaspoon of lemon juice just before serving. Arrange chicken on platter.

Gravy may be served over the chicken or in a separate dish.

Serve with hot rice and a condiment dish of sieved hard-cooked egg, chutney, minced onion and green pepper, chopped nuts, etc. Serves 3 to 4.

Six Are Injured In Marion Area Auto Accidents

Richwood Man Sent To Hospital After Crash South of City

Six people were injured in nine accidents Saturday and Sunday and today in the city and county, police and the state highway patrol reported this morning.

A Richwood man, Richward D. Shaw, 23, was taken to Marion City Hospital this morning with injuries resulting from a two-car accident south of Marion on Route 4 at the Barks Road at 7:50 a.m.

He was reported in "fair" condition at the hospital where he is suffering from severe shock, a fracture of the right leg, chest injuries and lacerations of the head and face.

Shaw was driving one car in the accident, the other being driven by Forest Disterdick, 40, of near Cardington.

The Marion post of the state highway patrol reported that both cars were going north on Route 4 when Shaw attempted to pass Disterdick, who was turning left onto the Barks Road. After the collision, Shaw's car veered off, striking and breaking off a power pole owned by the Ohio Edison Co.

Shaw's car was extensively damaged and was removed by a wrecker. Disterdick's car was moderately damaged on the left side.

Disterdick was uninjured.

Because of the broken power pole, electric service in the area was shut off temporarily. Crews from Ohio Edison repaired the damage and had partial service returned by 8:30 a.m. and complete service by 8:50 a.m.

Woman Injured

Bet R. Dearth, 23, of near Richwood received minor bruises on the right side when a car driven by her was extensively damaged in a one-vehicle accident at 11:55 p.m. Saturday on Route 4, south of Marion between the Pennsylvania and C & O Railroad crossings.

According to the patrol, she was driving north, turning west into a private drive when the car went into a ditch, damaging the front bumper and windshield.

Two Hurt in Crash

Two Marion County residents were injured in a one-car accident on the Smeltzer Road, about one-half mile south of Route 4, at 3 a.m. Sunday. They were the driver, Benjamin Christian, 45, of near Waldo, and a passenger, Margaret Christian, 34, of near Waldo.

Christian was going north and lost control of the car after going around a curve. The car went off the road on the right side, tore up about 30 feet of farm fence and hit a tree.

Christian suffered a laceration near the right eye and on the elbow, while his passenger received lacerations of the head and chin and body bruises.

The car, removed by wrecker, was extensively damaged on the front and right side.

Two Drivers Arrested

Two drivers were arrested as a result of two minor traffic accidents investigated over the weekend by city police.

Melvin G. Hoffman, 30, of 358 S. Main St. was charged with drunken driving after his car struck a car parked in front of 349 N. State St. and owned by Kenneth Butler of 353 N. State St. at 10:54 a.m. Saturday.

Police reported the left rear fender of Butler's car and the right front fender of Hoffman's car were damaged. In Municipal Court today, Hoffman pleaded guilt, and was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to five days in the Marion County jail and his driver's license was suspended for three years. Judge Hazen said he gave Hoffman the heavy fine because this was his third arrest and conviction on drunken driving charges.

Harvey Preston Newell, 60, of 461 Lee St., was charged with reckless driving after his car was involved in a collision at E. Farming St. and Ballentine Ave. at 7:44 p.m. Saturday with another car driven by John J. Ryan Jr., 33, of 410 Durfee Dr. Both cars were damaged, police said.

In Municipal Court this morning, Newell pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs.

Mansfield Youths Hurt

Two Mansfield youths received minor injuries in an accident at 7:40 p.m. yesterday on Route 95 in Claridon Township, about six miles east of Marion.

Injured were the driver, Michael J. McDevitt, 19, who received a lacerated left hand, and a passenger in his car, Robert Huff, 21, who received a sprained neck.

The car was east-bound going around a curve when it went off the road on the left side, going into a ditch where it turned over. The top and left side of the car were extensively damaged.

McDevitt was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday on a charge of driving on the wrong side of the highway.

Barks Road Accident

Cars driven by Frank Partlow, 58, of 272 Lincoln Ave., and Lewis G. Meier, 39, of Lancaster were involved in an accident on Route 23 at the Barks Road south of Marion.

According to the patrol, Partlow was going east on Barks Road when he hit Meier, who was heading north on 23. Meier went into the ditch on the right side where his car rolled over.

The Meier car was heavily damaged on the top and both sides, while the Partlow car received moderate damage on the left front side. There were no injuries.

Parlow was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Store Front Damaged

The front of the Wilson Grocery Store at the southeast corner of Hecker and N. Main Sts. and a sign in front of the store were damaged when struck by an automobile out of control at 1:02 a.m. yesterday. The car, driven by Bonnie Franklin Fix, 45, of 760 N. State St. was also badly damaged, police said.

Fix told police he was southbound on N. Main St. and swerved his car to the left to miss three men crossing the street and lost control of the car.

Only other accident was a hit-skip involving a car parked in front of 458 N. Main St. and owned by A. W. Ricketts of Columbus. Police said the accident happened at 7:07 p.m. Saturday and that a witness reported he followed the hit-skip car out of town and obtained the license number of the car. They traced the ownership of the car, according to the registration, to Milton W. Whitemeir of Caledonia.

EXTINGUISHERS INSTALLED

Fire extinguishers were installed Saturday in the Marion County jail and in the three automobiles used by Sheriff Glenn Obenour and his deputies. A two and one-half gallon soda and acid type wall extinguisher was installed in the jail, while carbon dioxide type extinguishers were placed in the cars.

Taylor Brothers Launch Spiritual Crusade Here

"It is Christ's way or the Communist way; the world has only two choices," declared Rev. Charles Forbes Taylor of the Taylor Brothers evangelistic team in opening a Spiritual Victory Crusade in Marion Sunday night. His theme was "Back to God, America."

The meetings, set to continue through Jan. 25, are being held under auspices of Marion County Ministerial Association and are at 7:30 nightly except Saturday in Epworth Methodist Church. At least 17 members of the association were present Sunday night, and others and their congregations will participate on the week nights of the crusade. A number of churches have suspended their own evening services and meetings for the duration of the campaign.

REV. J. B. HOLLOWAY, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church and chairman of the evangelistic committee of the Marion County Ministerial Association, presided. The host pastor, Rev. Walter C. Eyster, offered opening prayer and Rev. C. R. Wendell of Calvary EUB Church offered prayer. A group of ministers from the association was seated in the choir loft.

The musician of the Taylor Brothers team, Rev. Laurie F. Taylor, played numbers on his nine-foot Steinway piano preceding the service and offertory and accompanied congregational singing which included two songs of his own composition.

Rev. "Charlie" Taylor led the singing of verses with his specialty of whistling interspersed with the characteristic comments he uses to create a "friendly atmosphere" in the services. His sermon was ended with a solo which was appropriate to the thoughts which

IN BRINGING out his idea of the necessity of this nations's renewal of spiritual power he said, "This country was founded by men like the ancient Hebrews who went out to seek a nation whose builder and maker was God. When droughts, pestilence, pests and war came upon them, they understood these things were allowed because of their sin and disobedience to the will of God.

"When calamities came upon them, they fell on their knees and asked God to Forgive them and give them another chance. Under this kind of providential prodding they grew into a mighty nation until their descendants came to the machine and scientific age and they said, 'We don't need God any more, modern science will save us.' But all modern science did was to teach us how to kill more people in faster ways than ever before.

"NOW WE ARE getting ready to sacrifice all our wealth and most of our sons to another such fearful calamity. Isn't it about time we got off our high horse, humbled ourselves to pray, turn from our wicked ways and seek the face of God?" If we do, the Bible says God will hear from heaven, and forgive our sin and heal our land."

Tonight has been designated as special feature night. Rev. Laurie Taylor will play a quarter-hour program of youth music including old cowboy tunes, and Rev. "Charlie" Taylor will preach on "The Bigger they Are the Harder They Fall."

Mrs. Anne Sedelmaier, supervising nurse of the Marion County Health Department since 1947, Saturday submitted her resignation, effective the first of February, to the health board. She is resigning in order to accept a position as hospital consultant with the Ohio State Department of Health.

now bars an employer from making payments to a union to help finance such funds unless the fund meets certain standards.

But Eisenhower said, "These standards are not adequate to protect and conserve these funds that are held in trust for the welfare of individual union members."

Calls for Prompt Action

In his 2,500-word message the President expressed his hope the changes he suggested "will be enacted by Congress promptly, for they will more firmly establish the basic principles of the law."

Eisenhower said:

"Government should continue to search diligently for sound measures to improve the lot of the working men and women, mindful that conditions and standards of employment change as the products, habits and needs of men and women change.

"It will be continually a challenge to government to sense the inspirations of the working people of our country, that all may have the opportunity to fairly share in the results of the productive genius of our time, from which comes the material blessings of the present and a greater promise for the future."

Views Widely Split

Employer groups have advocated a much tougher law, or at least no lessening of present restrictions on unions. Organized labor, on the other hand, has demanded repeal or drastic revision.

Enacted in mid-1947 over the veto of former President Truman, the law has been changed very little during the nearly seven years in which it has formed the basic ground rules for union-management conduct.

The law still contains the primary principle of the New Deal's Wagner Act, which it replaced. It requires employers to bargain on wages and working conditions with labor organizations chosen by employes. Despite bitter union objections that they were hamstrung by the law, union membership has continued growing.

May Hit Deadlock

Annually since 1947 Congress has wrestled with the problem of trying to satisfy employer and union wishes for change, never succeeding. Again this year, a deadlock in Congress may prevent amendment.

Eisenhower promised during his 1952 elections campaign to make the law fairer to labor and management.

Marion County Coroner Dr. E. H. Morgan ruled death was caused by an accidental bullet wound which pierced the heart and chest.

Leonard Middleton was born Jan. 5, 1943, and was a fifth grade pupil at the Mark Street School. He was a member of the Church of God and of the YMCA.

Surviving with his stepfather and his mother, Jacob and Susan Timmons Withers, are a brother and a sister, William Elton Middleton and Carol Ruth Middleton, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Middleton of Miamisburg, Pearl Timmons of Chillicothe, and Mrs. Maybelle Timmons of Upper Sandusky. His mother's birthplace was Forest.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary on Mt. Vernon Ave. Rev. Fred Morgan will officiate. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Farm Program

build up of surpluses in the hands of the corporation under price supports, more money will be needed. Agriculture Department experts have predicted corporation investments in surpluses may pass six billion dollars by spring.

Under the flexibile program, government price guarantees would be high in time of shortages to encourage production, and low in times of surpluses to encourage consumption and discourage over production.

The President said the present war - born mandatory supports should be permitted to expire at the end of this crop year.

"A farm program" he said, "first of all should assist agriculture to earn its proportionate share of the national income. It must likewise aim at stability in farm income. There should therefore be no wide year to year fluctuation in the level of price support."

Equality Stressed

He said too "a farm program must fairly represent the interests of both producers and consumers."

The government supports prices of farm products by stepping into the market and buying whenever the price drops to the support level, or by making loans to farmers at the support level.

The farmer's crop is security for the loan. If prices go down, he can elect not to pay the loan, leaving the crop to the government. If prices go up, he can pay off the loan, take back his crop and sell it.

Under the President's program, price props on major crops would vary between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

The President said adjustment to a new farm program must be accomplished gradually in the interest of farmers and in the interest of the economy of the nation as a whole.

Program for Wool

As to specific crops, the program outlined today offered little that was new, except in the case of wool. For this commodity, the President suggested the use of pro- President sugested the use of production payments as a method of assuring producers fair income. Such payments were a feature of the controversial farm program advanced in 1949 by President Truman's then secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, but never accepted by Congress.

The idea is that prices of domestically produced wool would be permitted to seek their level in the market, competing with other fibers and with imported wool.

For such commodities as meat animals, dairy products, poultry and eggs, tobacco, soybeans, cottonseed, flax, fruits and vegetables, and sugar, the President proposed no changes from present programs.

The flexibile price support plan, under which price guarantees would move up or down with changes in supplies, would be applied to wheat, cotton, rice, corn, and peanuts.

Need Foreign Markets

In urging flexible supports for cotton and wheat, the President said the major problem is to develop a program which will help farmers gain foreign buyers. He said present high rigid supports stimulate competition by foreign producers and reduce U.S. exports.

Eisenhower recommended a "modernized" formula for determining parity prices, as written into the 1948-49 farm act, be allowed to go into effect Jan. 1, 1956, for commodities not now under it. Those commodities are wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts.

The "modern" parity price for these products would be lower than prices determined by the old formula. The President suggested, however, the shift from the old to the new parity be carried out gradually. He said this should be done in steps of five percentage points of the old parity per year until the change has been accomplished.

Blames Surpluses

Eisenhower said removal of the threat of price depression due to huge surpluses — which now total nearly five billion dollars—is an essential part of his program.

"Destruction of surplus commodities cannot be countenanced under any circumstances," he said.

"They can be insulated from the commercial markets and used in constructive ways.

"Such uses will include school lunch programs, disaster relief, aid to the people of other countries, and stock-piled reserves at home for use in war or national emergency."

Eisenhower said Congress should continue present authority permitting the use of farm surpluses to help friendly foreign countries and for overseas disaster relief.

Trade Missions

He said in an effort to broaden foreign markets, the government soon will sen a series of trade missions to Europe, Asia, and South America to explore the immediate possibilities of expanding international trade in food and cotton. He added:

"Moreover, the secretary of agriculture, in cooperation with the secretary of state, is organizing discussions for the exchange of views with foreign ministers of agriculture on subjects affecting the use of agricultural surpluses and stockpiles."

The President said agriculture will face a problem of what to do with land diverted from crops because of production control programs.

He suggested subsidy payments made to farmers for carrying out soil and water conservation practices should be used to help keep such diverted land from going into other crops.

Firm Floor Sought

Eisenhower said he is convinced the combination of freezing surpluses, using flexible price supports, and the use of methods to expand markets would provide "a firm floor on which our farmers can rely while making long term plans for efficient production and marketing." He predicted:

"It will help the farmer attain full parity in the market.

"It will avoid creating burdensome surpluses.

"It will curtail the regimentation of production planning, lessen the problem of diverted acreage, and yield farmers greater freedom of choice and action.'

Stirs Up Opposition

The farm program, as outlined briefly in Eisenhower's State of the Union Message last Thursday stirred up considerable opposition to the principle of flexible price supports.

Eisenhower said the program would "build markets, protect the consumers' food supply and move food into consumption instead of into storage." He said it would assure "a higher and steadier financial return" to farmers.

He outlined a farm program built on flexible price supports, rather than the present rigid props for basic crops, to stimulate consumption of crops now piling up in government hands. About five billion dollars is invested in surpluses.

Should Avoid Slump

Eisenhower cautioned that a shift to the flexible system—presumably after the present 90 per cent parity arrangement expires with the 1954 crop year—should steer clear of any abrupt slump in government price guarantees

Under a flexible plan, govern ment price supports would be high in times of shortages to encourage production, and low in times o surpluses to boost consumption and discourage over-production.

Congress wrote a flexible price support law in 1948 and 1949 to replace the present war-born system, but it has delayed putting it into effect.

The House planned no work today, meeting only to receive the President's messages. It arranged to adjourn until Thursday, when Eisenhower will send up another in the long series of recommendations he plans on specific subjects.

Social Security Message

The one on Thursday will deal with social security. Congressional sources said yesterday the President will propose increases in all social security benefits, ranging from a minimum of $5 monthly to more than $10.

Unlike the House, the Senate planned a legislative program, starting off with minor measures to authorize the issuance of three commemorative coins. Also on the calendar was a bill to increase the acreage which may be planted to cotton in 1954 under crop control laws.

and were already dead when they hit the water.

"All their faces were serene and in calm repose," the surgeon said. "They showed no look of terror. Death must have come without warning."

The Italian Air Ministry and a six-man commission from London began an investigation.

BOAC said 10 of the passengers were believed to be children returning to British schools after spending Christmas with their parents abroad.

One Believed Writer

One of the bodies reneovered was tentatively identified as that of Chester Wilmot, 42-year-old Australian war correspondent and author whose controversial book, "The Struggle for Europe," was an international best seller.

Armed Bandits Obtain $140 in Farm Robbery

BUCYRUS — Crawford County sheriff's officials were without any clues today in the armed robbery of an aged Crawford County farmer by two masked, gun-wielding robbers at his farm home Saturday night.

The farmer, Edwin Kibler, about 70, who resides alone on a farm nine miles north of Bucyrus on State Route 4, told Crawford County Sheriff Elwood Jacobs that two men wearing handkerchiefs over their faces and bearing automatic revolvers and flashlights made their way into his home through an unlocked back door, demanded his money, and later left with his billfold containing $140.

bodies remained unidentified early today

The big seaplane, owned by United Gas Co., went down at Wallace Lake, 10 miles south of here.

T. J. Rucker of Shreveport, the first on the scene, said, "I was driving to the lake when I heard the crash. I got there and saw assistance was impossible. I drove to the Forbing community and called the CAA office at the Shreveport Municipal Airport."

Harold and Julian Martinez and E. C. Crain, all of the Shreveport area, said they saw the plane flying low. They said it wavered, hit the trees and then crashed and burned.

The plane ripped through the trees for 100 yards before it hit the house.

United Gas said the passenger list included:

Braniff, 70-year-old aviation pioneer who began a commercial flying company in 1928 and saw it grow into a major airline.

Hargrove, 57-year-old president of Texas Eastern and former president of the American Gas Assn. who was a former adviser for the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

Chris Abbott, 65, Hyannis, Neb., one of Nebraska's leading bankers and a director of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Assn., the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. and the Union Stockyards of Omaha.

Edgar Tobin, 58, San Antonio, Tex., head of a large aerial mapping firm and a World War I flying ace with Eddie Rickenbacker's famed Hat-in-the-Ring squadron.

Justin R. Querbes Sr., 61, director of Sherveport's First National Bank, president of an insurance company and the leader of the city's community chest drives.

Randolph Querbes Sr., 59, his brother, and a wholsale electrical company head.

"With the intelligent investment of the billion dollars herein mentioned, and the development of a feasible turnpike system, at the end of this decade Ohio's system of highways will have no equal anywhere.

"The members of the legislative branch and of the executive department have a common responsibility to the people of Ohio. Our objective should be to develop a highway program that will serve the convenience, the safety and the needs of our citizenry.

"To the attainment of that objective, I pledge you full cooperation."

Lausche said his program allocated approximately one- third of the income in the next eight years, whether from bonds or otherwise, to municipal type projects.

Ratio To Use

"This allocation is in direct proportion to the vehicle mileage of travel in the urban communities as that mileage is related to the total vehicle mileage traveled in the state," he explained.

the commission would be in no way to blame.

The source said the Swedish and Swiss delegates on the NNRC would vote with him, outnumbering the Communist Czechs and Poles.

Earlier the commission took up the issue of what to do with the POWs.

At a 20-minute session, Maj. Gen. Jan Svenstrom, the Swedish delegate, proposed that the commission back the Allied demand that the prisoners be released Jan. 23. He urged a quick discussion and decision.

The delegates then adjourned for a day to study his proposal.

The Reds insist the prisoners be held until their fate is discussed for 30 days by a Korean political conference. Preliminary negotiations for the conference were broken off last month by U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean after the Reds had charged the United States with perfidy.

Since then, Communist leaders have urged the U. N. to call a special meeting to take up the problem.

The Indian government announced today that it is formally requesting that the Assembly meet "at an early date" to discuss Korea.

An Indian Foreign Ministry source had said earlier a request was sent to the United Nations in New York yesterday asking that the Assembly meet Feb. 9.

The government announcement called for the session to open before the repatriation commission is dissolved, which is expected late in February.

Approval of 31 of the 60 U. N. members is needed to reconvene the Assembly.

Meanwhile, American and South Korean units held a rehearsal of what they plan to do if and when the prisoners are freed and stream toward the Allied line from the bulging South Camp.

Dulles

which might result from disagreement or misunderstanding over physical arrangements for the conference, what countries should be included, and the like.

U. S. officials are talking in terms of talks between the United States and Russia, or those two plus Britain. A three-power conference looks like the best bet at the moment. It would focus on two issues:

1. President Eisenhower's proposal, made to the United Nations Dec. 8, for an international pool of atomic materials and know-how made up of contributions from the United States, Russia and other atomic powers and devoted to such peaceful uses as production of power and the medical benefits of atomic materials.

2. A counterproposal put forward by Moscow for a pledge against the use of atomic weapons. The Russians have presented this as a first step toward eliminating all such weapons from the arsenals of the world.

The Soviets have shown no interest in peaceful development apart from a weapons ban. The United States is officially interested in eliminating atomic weapons only as part of a huge disarmament and peace program going far beyond any paper pledge. There appears to be little ground for compromise between these two positions. Hence there is no optimism about an agreement.

The Constitution

By George Sokolsky

I received a letter signed by three important names, Lucius D. Clay, Edward S. Corwin and John W. Davis. It is a form letter, probably sent to thousands of citizens, and came from the "Committee for Defense of the Constitution"— a laudable purpose, indeed. The very first sentence hit me with all the vehemence of an advertising agency calling attention to a body odor. It read:

SOKOLSKY

"The Constitution is again under attack."

Naturally I assumed that here might be another committee to fight the Communists, perhaps for their abuse of the Fifth Amendment, but I was in error. This committee was organized to fight Republicans and Democrats who favor the Bricker Amendment.

FROM THE general tenor of the statement signed by these gentlemen, one would imagine that the American Constitution had been prepared by the Persians and Medes and is unchangeable in every comma and semi-colon.

Actually, the Constitution makes ample provision for amendments and has been amended 22 times, including once to eliminate alcoholic beverages from our lives and another time to restore such liquid refreshment, after a campaign in which one of the objectives was freeing beer from the bootleggers and racketeers.

Therefore, it must be reported that when the lawyers and laymen of this committee set out to frighten us by announcing another attack on the Constitution, they were misstating the case, exaggerating the premise, engaging in fantasy, which may be characteristic of pleading lawyers, but is not likely to influence hard-headed Americans who recognize a fact when they see one.

The fact they see is that while the Constitution provides that the legislative function of this nation is designated to Congress, it can be and is being performed by foreigners in the United Nations because of treaties signed for what appears to be one particular purpose but becomes expanded to be all-inclusive. Cases have already been in our courts concerning this and in most of them the United States has lost to the foreigners!

THE CONSTITUTION needs to be amended to protect this country from alien powers whose activities neither Alexander Hamilton, John Jay nor James Madison could have foreseen. In fact, none of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention could have imagined that the United States would ever become so deeply involved in the affairs of Europe, Asia and Africa, they, the delegates, just having freed themselves from Great Britain and European tutelage.

The difference of opinion here is a hidden one—not at all the one that is generally discussed. What is really at stake is this: The internationalists have learned nothing since 1945. They have not truly appraised the events that have happened since our government finally discovered that Soviet Russia is not an ally but an enemy. They have learned nothing from the failure of the Marshall Plan and the development of neutralism among nations to which we contributed billions of dollars. They have learned nothing from Fance's sabotage of the European Defense Community. They have learned nothing from the Korean war and the Indochina war. They have learned nothing from the inability of NATO to form a European army or from the establishment of one overt and two covert Communist governments in Latin America. They do not seem to realize that the Panama canal is in peril.

AND HAVING learned nothing, they proceed as though the United States can afford to pursue a policy devised in the first five years of the 1940's and which brought to our country disaster and humiliation.

These matters these internationalists do not wish to have discussed openly on the floor of the Senate in relation to treaties written between this country and some others. They can avoid such discussions by secret executive agreements which bind the American people to conditions of which they are not cognizant.

They generally hold that such legislation as Senator Bricker now proposes, and John Foster Dulles supported before he became secretary of state but now rejects, is unnecessary because Dwight D. Eisenhower is President. How can anyone consistently support in the Eisenhower administration what he opposed in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations?

The United States will continue after Eisenhower is no longer President as it is continuing after Roosevelt and Truman are no longer President. If John Foster Dulles favored the principles of the Bricker Amendment when Truman was President, why does he oppose them now?

Winter Hits N.Y.

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Snow fell on New York City today and made it the wonderland everybody would like to live in.

HAL BOYLE

This is the greatest city in the world, a city of many small circles and many a close-knit neighborhood and many a wondering loyalty. It is a city swept by storm and turbulence of living and the wind of voice.

But today the snow is falling . . . and New York City is beautiful . . . and, Oh, I wish you could see it now . . . from the Bronx to the Battery . . . and Brooklyn . . . and here in the mist . . . a ride to Staten Island . . . now look at your Statue of Liberty, lifting her imperial torch against the everlasting snow.

"It's a great place to visit, but I'd sure hat to live here," many a tourist says . . . But really you have to live with New York City for many years to know when is the right time to see her best . . . and I say, "now!" . . . come all ye people . . . see the tallest towers of our time in a cloak of snow, and the highest civilized icicles in the whole wide world.

Come now . . . come now . . . see how the snowflakes, one after another, none like the other, bring out and stir to new life the myriad children of the city, one after another, none like each other, and all are stirred and all are melting . . . and none knows why . . .

It is a storm that nature is hurling at the city, and all storms harvest havoc . . . For every laugh in this world there must be a cry, and often two . . . On Park avenue a girl in a mink coat sticks out her tongue and tries to catch a snowflake . . . On the Bowery a walking bum looks for a way to escape not one but a thousand flakes . . . To him they are nothing but life's wet drum beats. He's seen other snows in other towns in other years before, and wants a place out of the wind's way.

But in Times square, the river of light where no neon sign is ever really lonely, the snow tousles a girl's head that should be ruffled, and a hand rubs in the snow there and thaws it, and laughter rings in two hearts and knits them against a time when snowfalls are forgotten and the miserable ice forms.

Now slows the pace of New York . . . It puts a shovel and a job in the hand that needs help . . . It lifts people out of themselves . . . It sews them into unity.

Like mischief-minded elves they like to see the snow tie up their city . . . knot it in massive traffic jams . . . wrap it into a hopeless, happy jumble . . . and maybe stay that way until the first robin arrives and rescues the city by bending down and with one peck of his beak unbend the bow that holds it all in one.

Well, maybe I do make too much of it. But this is the first real snowfall we have had this year, and snow does excite us here in the world capital of concrete, just as the rain does when it is allowed, come spring.

Three Families Routed by Fire At Galion Home

GALION — Three families were routed out in freezing temperatures about 8:30 a.m. Sunday and a fireman was injured in a blaze that gutted a seven-room home here and spread to an adjacent grocery store and apartments.

Fire Chief John Durtschi said loss will mount into thousands of dollars, but an exact estimate was not available.

The fire started in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huggins, shortly after Mr. Huggins had fired the coal furnace and returned to the kitchen for a cup of coffee. Chief Durtschi said the fire apparently started near a smoke pipe of the furnace which looked as though it had rusted out. Flames spread up a stairway so fast that the Huggins couple and their three children, Walter, 15, Sally 14, and Jeanne were unable to save anything except the clothing they wore.

The seven-room frame house, owned by the W. D. Richardson estate, was completely gutted, and the contents destroyed. Insurance will cover some of the loss to the house, but the Huggins family had no insurnce.

Flames shot up a north wall of the home next to the Craun meat market and grocery and broke out on the roof of the building, burning into the attic. Water used to fight the blaze, dripped through the ceiling to damage the apartments above the store occupied by Mrs. Betty Carlisle and two children, Tommy, 10, and Lynne, 8, and Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Rodman. Smoke also damaged the apartments.

Both water and smoke damaged the store operated by C. E. Craun and son. Much of the merchandise had to be moved out after the fire, and redecorating will be necessary before the Crauns can resume business.

Firemen spent about two and a half hours fighting the fire, and were called back a second time to investigate smoke on the outside wall of the grocery. The building is owned by the J. H. Gelsanliter family.

Meanwhile, Michael Vargo, disaster chairman of the Galion chapter of the Red Cross, is making an appeal for clothing for the Huggins family. The family is staying with Mrs. Huggins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Noonan of Galion. Huggins is employed as a spray painter at the Hercules Steel Products Corp.

The Rodmans were eating their breakfast in the apartment they occupied above the Craun store when they heard a crackling sound and noticed a window break. Investigating, they saw the flames and tried to use a telephone. Finding the line dead, they summoned Mrs. Carlisle. Her telephone also was out, caused by the start the fire had made. Her 10-year-old son, Tommy, turned in the alarm by breaking the glass on the fire alarm box near the store. Mrs. Carlisle and children are at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Manning. Extensive repairs will have to be made to the apartment which was damaged by smoke and water. Mr. and Mrs. Rodman realized a heavy loss on their furniture from water and smoke.

Water froze on the ladder as firemen fought the blaze. Fireman Robert Fabian cut his right wrist severely on glass while he was working, and had to have stitches taken when he was treated by a physician.

FBI Checking Greenlease Case Ransom Story

ST. LOUIS (AP)—FBI agents are checking a story about the missing $303,720 Greenlease ransom told by a 40-year-old barber held in Las Vegas, Nev., on a worthless check charge.

He was identified as Frank Beninato, charged with issuing an $800 worthless check in San Francisco.

Beninato told officers he saw a man take a suitcase from the parked car of resigned Lt. Louis Shoulders a few minutes after Shoulders and suspended Patrolman Elmer Dolan arrested kidnap-slayer Carl Austin Hall the night of Oct. 6.

Shoulders and Dolan have been indicted by a Kansas City federal grand jury for perjury in connection with their testimony about their handling of the two suitcases in which Hall carried the ransom. Less than $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom was recovered in the suitcases.

Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady were executed last December for the kidnap-killing of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

Changes Suggested in Law

Ike's Proposals To Start New Taft-Hartley Fight

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—All President Eisenhower could be sure about today, when he handed Congress his suggestions for changing the Taft-Hartley labor law, was that he'd make quite a few people mad.

Sight unseen, but because his ideas on changes were described as moderate, Eisenhower was a cinch to displease union leaders who wanted the law wiped out and those businessmen who wanted it made tougher or not changed at all.

The most he could hope was that a majority of businesmen and organized workers would consider his proposals reasonable and good and that Congress would feel the same way and translate them into law.

But he couldn't be sure beforehand. And particularly he couldn't be sure that Congress, before quitting next summer, would make any changes or, if it did, that they would be the ones he suggested.

What Eisenhower offered today represented the end of much stumbling around inside the administration and the President's own official family on the question of amending Taft-Hartley.

Last year congressional committees held weeks of hearings on the law, letting all interested parties —labor, business and others—have their say on what should or shouldn't be done.

When a committee is considering legislation on a law as controversial and basic as Taft-Hartley, it would be usual for an administration spokesman to state its views and very unusual if one didn't.

Last year no one from the administration appeared. The job of testifying for the administration would have fallen to the secretary of labor, Martin P. Durkin. Durkin stayed away.

The result: Congress didn't act T-H in 1953. Later, when Durkin quit the Cabinet in September, it became pretty clear why he hadn't gone before the committee.

The administration through last winter, spring and summer had been unable to make up its mind on what T-H changes it thought should be made.

Durkin complained, on the day he resigned, that he had been working with Eisenhower's White House aides on suggested changes, thought they had White House approval, and then found out they didn't. Eisenhower said he had never broken his word to an associate.

So between last September and now the Eisenhower people have whipped up a list of changes, probably fewer than Durkin wanted, which the President could say represented his considered opinion.

Nevertheless, the difficulties encountered by Eisenhower on this subject were fairly mild when compared with those of former President Truman, under whose administration, when the Republicans controlled Congress in 1947, T-H was passed.

Truman went a lot further than Eisenhower. He wanted T-H taken off the books, which was what union labor leaders wanted. But in the following years, when his Democrats ran Congress, he couldn't do anything either.

During his administration—when it was clear that enough Democrats and Republicans in Congress were joined together in opposing outright repeal—organized labor might make won't end the dispute. some changes.

But it wouldn't. And it got nothing. Any changes this Congress might make won t end the dispute. Organized labor will certainly be in pitching next year for more changes.

This is a quarrel which will probably go on for years since T-H is at the very heart of management-labor relations.

Goodrich Firm Said One of 12 Best-Managed

The B. F. Goodrich Co. of Akron today was named one of the nation's 12 best-managed companies by the American Institute of Management.

The ratings, based on a continuing study of 3,000 leading concerns in the U. S. and Canada, are made to "focus attention upon those companies whose practices should be emulated by others," Jackson Martindell, president of the institute reported.

The institute named a total of 348 companies as "excellently managed" for the year 1953. It made its ratings on a point system of evaluating ten key management factors and the top 12 firms scored 9,000 or more out of a total of 10,000 points.

Others in the top 12 were the Proctor & Gamble Co., Cincinnati; American Telephone & Telegraph Co., New York; E. I. DuPont De Nemours & Co., Wilmington, Delaware; General Motors Corp., Detroit; the National Cash Register Co., Dayton; Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.; The Grand Union Co., East Patterson, N. J.; Hotels Statler Co., Inc., New York; Minnesota Mining & Mfg. Co., St. Paul; and C.I.T. Financial Corp., and the National City Bank of New York, both of New York City.

The Goodrich plant at Green Camp is one of the firm's many factories. R. H. VanSickle is manager of the local plant.

110 More Blood Donors Needed

Collection To Be Made Wednesday, Thursday

If you are fortunate enough to be free from a cold or other illness at this time, ring your calendar for next Wednesday as a reminder to give a pint of blood at the Marion County Blood Center in the recreation room at the First Presbyterian Church on that date.

To date only 65 persons have registered at the chapter office, by phoning 2-1653. Needed are 110 more donors if Marion County meets its quota of 150 pints.

"We realize there are many persons who would be glad to volunteer but who are caught with colds or other seasonal ailments at this particular time," Melvin Weston, blood program chairman said today in making the appeal for volunteer donors.

Because of this, he adds, it is doubly important that those who can, volunteer to give a pint of blood next Wednesday.

The Bloodmobile unit will visit Marion two days this week. Wednesday the staff will be at the church from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Thursday the unit will visit the Marion Power Shovel Co. plant. The hours at the plant are from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"The need is urgent and this is really an SOS for volunteers" the chairman stated.

Barons, Mohawks Break Even in Weekend Clashes

Both Teams Post Victories Before Home Town Crowds

The Marion Barons broke even in a pair of games over the weekend with league-leading Cincinnati. The Mohawks dropped Marion 5-1 Saturday night at the Cincinnati Gardens while the Barons rebounded for a 4-1 win Sunday at the Coliseum.

As a result of weekend action, the Barons now rest in third place in the International Hockey League. Toledo clung to second place with a 3-3 tie with Troy and a 3-1 win over Johnstown. The Mohawks top the league with 51 points. Toledo has 43 with Marion having 42. Troy is in fourth spot with 40 along with Grand Rapids. The Saturday night tie between Toledo and Troy left Marion as the only team in the league not involved in a tie game.

The Sunday game saw the Barons and Mohawks hook up in one of the best and hardest played games of the season at the Coliseum. It was watched by the second largest crowd of the campaign. A total of 3,635 fans jammed into the Coliseum for the struggle. The biggest crowd was 3,700 which witneshed the IHL opener against the same Mohawks last Oct. 14.

Scoreless Duel

The first two quarters were a scoreless duel with the Mohawks' ace goalie, Charlie Hodge, having himself a busy afternoon warding off an incessant hammering by the Marion skaters. After a slow first period which saw him protected by several hard body checks by his defenseman, Hodge was called on to bat away 17 shots in the second period alone. While no scoring occurred in the first period, 10 penalties were called. Barons spent 12 minutes in the box while Mohawks were in for eight. The second period saw the Barons beginning to break through the Cincinnati defenders. Penalties also decreased with only 16 minutes called.

With less than a half minute gone in the third period, Tony Poeta opened the gates for the Barons. Phil Vitale stole the puck near the Marion goal and relayed to Ken Schultz who passed to Poeta at center ice. Poeta warded off 'Butch' MacKay as he skated down the side, cut in and faked Hodge to one side of the net. Vitale and Schultz were awarded assists. The score came after 21 seconds. Wimpy Jones pumped in the second goal at the 5:43 mark. Gordie Vejprava and Steve Brklacich gained assists. Vejprava passed off to Jones at the last minute as Hodge refused to commit himself.

Cincinnati then got back into the game when Lou Crowdis was robbed of a shutout at the 9:03 mark. Mark Bolleau scored when he along with Bill Gould and Duke Edmundson gained control of the puck and went down the ice in a three-on-one pattern. Bolleau was only about three feet in front of the net when he made his shot.

Schultz Scores Twice

Schultz, Brklacich and Hal Jones teamed up to ice the verdict at the 12:59 mark. Schultz scored the goal with assists from his two mates. The same pattern was followed after 18:40 with Schultz again scoring and Brklacich and Jones getting assists. It was Schultz's 24th goal of the season.

The Saturday night game also was marked by penalties with 66 minutes, 36 of them against the Barons, called. The game was watched by 5,063 fans.

Vejprava added to his goal total by ramming in the lone Marion goal midway in the second period.

Wilkie, Smith Banished

Most of the fireworks was reserved for the final 20 minutes with Marion's Murray Wilkie and the Mohawks' Don Smith locking horns in a stick swinging match. Both suffered minor facial cuts and were banished by Referee Brouillard. Neither was eligible for action yesterday. Seven stitches were required to close the wound suffered by Smith.

Crowdis was called on to post 31 saves to 22 for Hodge. Many of Lou's stops were on difficult shots.

The game was scoreless until 15:56 of the first period was passed. Reg Grigg put his team into the lead when he stole the puck and rammed it into the net. The Mohawks were a man short because of a penalty. Art Rose made it 3-0 with two goals within 47 seconds early in the second period before Marion's goal. Grigg boosted the count to 4-1 and Gould got Cincinnati's final marker in the last period.

The game Sunday was the Barons' last appearance at home until next Sunday when the last-place Milwaukee Chiefs move in. However, Marion will continue its battle for second place with two road games this week. Thursday night the Marion team plays at

Dark Star's Derby Victory Called Top 1953 Surprise

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—It was late in the afternoon at rambling old Churchill Downs last May 2 and more than 100,000 persons had been milling around for hours waiting to see a "sure thing" become the first grey horse in history win the Kentucky Derby.

At 4:32 p. m that warm, sunny day, 11 of the nation's best 3-year-olds slammed out of the starting gate, with a tough mile and one quarter run ahead of them, and a $90,050 prize for the winner.

Native Dancer, never beaten in his brilliant career, just had to win at odds up cents on the dollar.

But a fleet little colt named Dark Star, almost 25 to 1 on the tote board, came out of there with a rush, jumped into the lead almost at once, and then stayed there to the end as he beat off the closing spurt of the touted Dancer to win by a head.

Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable, trained by Eddie Hayward and with Henry Moreno in the saddle, had pulled off one of the greatest upsets in the history of racing.

This was voted the sports upset of 1953 today in the 23rd annual year-end Associated Press poll.

In a nationwide poll of sports writers and sportscasters, the defeat of Alfred Vanderbilt's grey galloper received 41 first place votes of the 128 cast, in a close ballot battle with Purdue's 6-0 upset win over Michigan State's football team last fall.

The Purdue surprise, which ended a 28-game MSC winning streak, received 37 firsts. On the basis of three points for a first vote, two for second and one for third, the derby stunner received 194 points, Purdue-MSC, 166.

The Iowa-Notre Dame football 14-14 tie got 14 firsts, and 85 points to rank third among the year's upsets.

Other major upsets during the year, in the order they were rated:

Mississippi Southern's 25-19 football victory over Alabama; Danny Womber's 10-round decision over Kid Gavilan at Syracuse, first loss for the welterweight king in almost three years; Houston's 37-7 football victory over Baylor; Nino Valdes' 10-round victory over Ezzard Charles at Miami Beach; Tony Trabert's 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Wimbledon champion Vic Xeixas in the finals of the U. S. Nations at Forest Hills;

The Boston Bruins eliminating the supposedly invincible Detroit Red Wings from the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs; and the Philadelphia Eagles 42-27 victory over Cleveland, ending the Browns' 11-game winning streak in the National Football League.

Gus Bell, outfielder for the Cincinnati Redlegs, hit 15 home runs at his home park and 15 on the road in 1953.

Charles Meets Satterfield in Top TV Match

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — While Al Weill trys to "make up his mind" about a winter title defense by heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, Ezzard Charles keeps on fighting.

The ex-champ from Cincinnati, a recent winner over Coley Wallace at San Francisco, mixes with Bob Satterfield at Chicago Stadium Wednesday (CBS-TV).

The "new' Charles, a chance-taking fighter, can't afford to let Satterfield get a clean swing at his jaw. The unpredictable Chicago heavy can flatten a man with one punch.

Sandy Saddler, the featherweight king who is home on leave from the Army in Germany, boxes for the first time since March 17, 1952, when he goes against Billy Bossio of Hartsdale, N. Y., Friday at St. Nicholas Arena (ABC-radio, NBC-TV) in a nontitle bout.

Fight fans will watch Saddler's weight with interest for there has been speculation that he might not be able to make the 126-pound feather limit. Heexpects to come in at 130 for the over-the-weight match.

Carmen Basilio may never win the world welter title but he must be the champion of the Saturday night fights (ABC-TV). The Canastota, N. Y., welter will be making his seventh appearance on Ray Arcel's series Saturday at Miami against Italo Scortichini of Italy.

Al Andrews, the Saginaw, Mich., boxer who twice beat Chuck Davey makes his New York debut tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway against Joey Klein of New York. The match will be seen on TV (Du Mont) in some sections of the country.

Sam Snead Tops 18-Hole Pro-Amateur Golf Event

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., professional, had added the MacNaughton Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament to his long list of victories.

He walked away from the tournament yesterday with $1,100 in cash for 18 holes of play.

Snead posted a 34-34—68 for the Bayshore Course, where par is 36-36—72, to beat Jock Hutchinson Jr., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., by one stroke.

The fastest game fish is the sailfish. It has been clocked taking out 100 yards of line in three seconds.

Ebert Remains Top Scorer in Big Ten Chase

CHICAGO (AP)—While Indiana was busy proving it hasn't lost last season's championship basketball touch, Iowa's youthful Hawkeyes were giving indication they'll demand plenty of respect in Big Ten competition.

Indiana's Hoosiers regained any prestige lost in a somewhat shaky start this season by whipping Minnesota's top contenders 71-63 on the Gophers' court Saturday.

Iowa, meantime, kept in step with a 71-54 verdict over Wisconsin's seasoned Badgers—a team Indiana's defending champions were able to beat by only three points on the Hoosiers' floor.

Indiana and Iowa thus emerged as the only teams unbeaten in Big Ten play. The Hoosiers have won three games and Iowa two.

Both teams play tonight, Indiana opposing Purdue at home and Iowa entertaining Michigan. In other conference games, Ohio State is at Illinois and Northwestern at Wisconsin.

In other games Saturday, Michigan State upset Illinois 60-59 with the winning point coming on Julius McCoy's last-second free throw; Northwestern beat Michigan 72-60, and Ohio State walloped Purdue 91-74 with sophomore Robin Freeman scoring 32 points and Paul Ebert 29.

Ebert is leading the Big Ten in individual basketball scoring.

He has averaged 25 points for the Buckeyes, 10 games against conference and nonconference opponents.

Illinois' Johnny Kerr is right behind with a 24.9 average for 10 games. Freeman of Ohio State is third with a 21.3 mark.

Indiana's Don Schulundt, last season's scoring leader, was limited to 12 points in the Hoosier victory over Minnesota, and is fourth with a 20.7 average, also for 10 games.

Ex-Boxer Dies

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Rocky Kansas, the Buffalo newsboy who fought his way to the lightweight championship of the world, died yesterday at Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

At 58, the colorful ex-champ fell victim to cancer.

Kansas won the lightweight crown Dec. 7, 1925, in a 15-round decision over Jimmy Goodrich at Bufalo. He retired the following July after losing a 10-round decision in Chicago to Sammy Mandell.

Wampler Shows Way

Dark Horse Leads Field Into Last Round of Open

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former intercollegiate champion Fred Wampler, a dark horse pacing the $20,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament dominated by other little known pros, led the way into the final round today with a comfortable 5-stroke lead at 206.

"I'm going to play as well as I know how today and see what happens," said the handsome 150-pounder, who physically resembles Ben Hogan and whose game is built along the same lines.

Wampler, from Indianapolis, won the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. title in 1950 at Purdue, where he graduated in business administration. But the 30-year-old former B24 flight engineer immediately turned to pro golf and yesterday gave an excellent accounting of himself with a 5-under-par 66.

Observers felt that if he could tour the 7,000-yard Fox Hills Country Club course in an even par 71 for the final 18 he would be a shoo-in for the $4,000 top prize. Behind him at 211 came Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; and Bill Nary, Tucson, Ariz. Nary led through the first and second rounds but slipped to a 74 yesterday. Hawkins had a 73 and Clark a 67.

At 212 came Jerry Barber, La Canada, Calif., who had a 69 yesterday; Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Calif., also 69; and the only two well-known pros in the eight who still are ahead of par, Bud Ward of Great Falls, Mont., and Ed Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., both carding third round 70s.

Falling well off the pace were such stars as Lloyd Mangrum, the defending champion, with a 71 and 218, just two strokes inside the qualifying score for the finals. Also down were Cary Middlecoff with 216; Lew Worsham, among the leaders for two rounds but now at 216 after a 76; and Peter Thomson, the Australian who was runner-up to Hogan in the British Open, with 217.

At even par 213 were Vic Ghezzi, John Serafin, Jack Harden, Art Doering, Chick Harbert and Jack Fleck.

Jack Burke Jr. and Jimmy Demaret, among the second-round leaders, had a bad afternoon. Burke had a 75 and Demaret a 74 to put them at 214 with seven others, including former U. S. Open champion Julius Boros.

Heavyweight Rank Lacks Contenders

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. rates four challengers as outstanding heavyweights, but it couldn't find one logical contender for Rocky Marciano's title.

The NBA's winter ratings advanced former champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati to the No. 1 challenger position on the strength of his knockout of Coley Wallace last month. Trailing Charles, in order, were Nino Valdez of Cuba, Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia and Roland LaStarza of New York.

Danny Nardico, the fellow who at one time was reported to be Marciano's next opponent, was rated fifth among the light-heavyweights.

There were no major changes in the NBA ratings announced yesterday. The biggest gain was recorded by Rocky Casteliani, the Pennsylvanian now fighting out of Ohio, who moved up from sixth to second among the world's middleweights.

St. Mary Rolls Over Cardington in Mid-Ohio Game

Irish Sharpshooters Claim Easy 72-49 League Victory

By JOHN SHORT

St. Mary's Cage team poured in 72 points Saturday night at Cardington to notch an easy 72-49 victory. It was the second night in a row the Irish had hit for 72 points. They upended Richwood 72-50 Friday night.

The Saturday night tilt was close for just four minutes. Then the Irish pulled away and were never in trouble. With 4:02 gone, the Pirates' Tom Conaway dropped in long set shot to knot the count at 8-all and Ed Schaffer followed with a shot from the corner to give Cardington a short-lived lead 10-8.

Pulls Away

Roger Micheli knotted the count with a corner shot and Mike Anderson put St. Mary ahead 11-10 with a foul shot and added a quick set shot. From there the local quintet raced to a 19-12 lead at the quarter. In the second quarter, rebounding by Anderson, Micheli and Jack O'Keeffe and alert defensive play by Johnny Messenger and Butch Merchant threatened to break the game open before Cardington rallied to narrow the margin. The pirates, unable to work the ball through the tight St. Mary defense resorted to long shots from outside and narrowed the margin from 31-18 at the middle of the quarter to 38-31 at the half.

The Irish defense perked up in the third period and Cardington shooters were unable to set themselves. Rebounding and shooting of the well-oiled Irish machine picked up despite the fact Coach Ray Robbins was shuttling players in an out. Larry Ryan and Jack McNamara gobbled up rebounds from the Pirates' shots and at the start of the final period, the Irish held a comfortable 57-38 lead.

Merchant was the biggest thorn in the side of the Pirates. He pumped 28 points through the hoop, all from the field for individual scoring laurels. He was particularly effective on set shots instead of his usual driving type. Anderson dropped in 10 points and Micheli registered 10.

For the Pirates, Shaffer netted 12 while Conaway and King had 10 and Sellars chipped in with 11.

Hit 42 Per Cent

The Irish converted on 31 of 74 attempts from the field for a shooting average of 42 per cent. Merchant finished the game with an amazing 66 per cent clip, compiled on 14 field goals out of 21 attempts.

The St. Mary reserves also had an easy game leaving the floor with a 47-28 decision. Freshman Jon Smith topped the attack with 12 points. King, another freshman, had 11 while Dick Mounts hit for 8. Gantz and Shaffer were high for the losers with 8. Coach Dan McGinnis cleared the St. Mary bench, using 20 players in the reserve game.

Pro Cage Star Suspended for Alleged Betting

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Jack Molinas, who had a good chance of being named the National Basketball Assn. Rookie of the Year, instead appeared likely to be the first player expelled from the league for betting on NBA games.

The Fort Wayne Piston forward and former Columbia University star, was in the position of trading his career and a salary of $9,600 a season for about $400 in gambling profits.

The NBA, which escaped being involved directly in the college basketball bribery scandals of the last three seasons, yesterday suspended him indefinitely.

President Maurice Podoloff left little doubt that the 6-foot-6 Molinas is finished in pro basketball. The 21-year-old player is entitled to a hearing before being expelled automatically at the end of the season.

Chesterville Sinks Iberia in Overtime

IBERIA — Chesterville's flashy basketball quintet edged Iberia 57-53 in an overtime contest Saturday night in the winners' floor. The Prexies forged ahead 11-8 in the first period but trailed at the half 23-21. At the start of the final period, the local team had managed to regain the lead 40-37.

Late in the last stanza, Duane Rogers was fouled and when he missed the shot, Morris James knotted the count at 51-51 on a tipin. In the overtime, Roger Craig scored to send his mates into a 53-51 lead but Walt Chambers scored for Iberia to tie the score. James added a field goal and Cliff Perkins clinced the verdict with another.

Don Robinson was the big gun with 26 points for the local team. Chambers added 11. For the winners James topped the attack with 15 and Dick Perkins dumped in 14. The Iberia reserves won their ninth straight 38-23 in the prelim. The win was the 11th in a row for Chesterville and put it in the top spot of the Morrow County League. Iberia with a 4-1 mark holds second. The Presidents meet Johnsville Tuesday night.

Marion County quintets near the finish line this week as they appear in two league sessions, the first scheduled Tuesday night.

Prospect has an opportunity to tie idle Morral for the Marion County League lead in the Tuesday night session. Coach Bob Kelly's charges entertain fourth - place Meeker.

Meanwhile, Claridon will be attempting to stay in the county league picture with a victory over Green Camp on the Hornet's home floor. Calridon is currently in third spot in the league standings with a 4-1 slate while Green Camp is 2-4 in league competition and rests in sixth spot.

LaRue will be going after its fourth victory in six county league starts at Caledonia. Coach Ted Dennison's crew is currently tied with Meeker for fourth spot in the standings. Caledonia, with a 2-4 mark in league action, is tied with Pleasant and Green Camp for sixth place.

Waldo will be trying to reach the .500 mark in league play with its third victory at Martel against the winless cellar dwellers. Wesley, Epworth and Trinity Win Church League Openers

Wesley Methodist, Epworth Methodist and Trinity Baptist captured victories in the opening round of the YMCA Church Basketball League at the Y Saturday. The three games marked the beginning of a 10-week program between the six Churches who have sponsored teams in the YMCA Church League for the past four years.

Defending champions, Wesley came from behind in the final half to nip a stubborn Church of the Brethren by a 55-44 count. The Brethren with a limited amount of pre-season practice couldn't match the Wesley depth after holding a 17-12 lead in the first eriod. Jim Ruth, leading Church League point getter in past years, had a big night for Wesley by pitching in 27 points from the field while Don Ballenger and Robbie Miller paced the Brethren with 12 and 11 points respectively.

Epworth Methodist last year's runner up, pounded out a 65-42 win over Rural Salem Evangelical and Reformed in the second game. Epworth rolled to a 21-6 first period lead and coasted to the first win. Salem came on strong in the second half after having trouble finding the range in the early minutes of the game. Rickie Wolfe and Louden lead the winners with 12 points each while Price had nine to lead Salem.

Trinity Baptist showed signs of being a power house in the 1954 loop by dumping Calvary 61-39 in the final game. Trinity jumped to a 19-6 first period lead and never were in trouble through the remainder of the game. Bob England lead the Trinity attack with a total of 18 points while Underwood paced Calvary with 14. Trinity held Bud England, Calvary's major scoring threat, in check to account for the romp.

Mixed Tag Match Booked at Armory

A mixed girl-man tag team match will be one of the main features on this Thursday's wrestling card at the Armory.

The match will team Violet Vian and Jim Lewis against Olga Zepeda and Mr. Satan for two out of three falls.

In the other main event Billy Fox of Cleveland will defend his tri-state gold belt against Irish Mike McGee. Ricky Waldo will tangle with Dick Torio in a one fall preliminary bout.

Platoon Death Hurts Punting, Crisler Thinks

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, often called the father of modern two-platoon football, said today the game is just as good under one-platoon, with the exception of kicking.

"Mechanics of the game last season with limited substitution were just as good, except for kicking," said Crisler, chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee which opened sessions here today.

"Coaches will see that kicking comes back up, given a little time. Trouble was that so many schools depended on their kicking from a fellow who usually couldn't — or didn't—do anything else."

Amid signs that one-platoon football is here to stay, although there may be some liberalization of the limited substitution rule, Crisler said he believes college football is a better game with double-duty players in action.

Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches Assn., is here to work with Crisler's group in an advisory capacity.

Little said the coaches would like to see the rule changed so a player could see action twice in each period, with no time limits.

Kentucky Hoopsters Better After One-Year Suspension

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball nears the season's halfway point this week with the undefeated big five of Kentucky, Duquesne Western Kentucky, Holy Cross and George Washington towering over the rest of the pack.

Kentucky, better than ever after a year's enforced absence from the college cage scene, looks like the best bet to go through without a loss. The Wildcats, rated No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll, flattened Georgia Tech 105-53 Saturday night for their first Southeastern Conference victory since the conference's one-year ban was lifted.

Western Kentucky racked up victory No. 14 Saturday by turning back Murray (Ky.) Teachers 57-43 in one of the lowest scoring games of the season.

Duquesne won No. 13 over St. Francis (Pa.) 94-64. The Dukes lived up to their No. 2 rating with a routine victory. Sub Fletcher Johnson led the scoring with 20 points.

Holy Cross, ranked seventh, and George Washington, like Kentucky won their ninth game with an impressive display of power. Holy Cross rolled over little St. Anselms 102-60, while George Washington solidified its role as Southern Conference kingpin by clouting Virginia Tech 73-40.

Close behind the unbeaten titans come a pair of conference powers who've lost only one—Indiana and Oklahoma A&M. Indiana, defending Big Ten and NCAA champions, whipped Minnesota 71-63 in what had been billed as a "crucial test for the champs since Minnesota is ranked sixth nationally.

The third-ranking Hoosiers looked like champs, too, before a crowd of 18,872 in Minnesota's field house as play director Bob Leonard fired 20 points to take up the slack caused by Don Schlundt's low—for him—total of 12.

Oklahoma A&M, Missouri Valley champions seven times in the past decade, took the first step toward another title by whaling Houston 76-61. The Aggies, rated fourth, now have a 13-1 over-all record. That's not quite up to the 14-1 mark posted by Wichita, surprise team of the conference.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

Radio and Television

By John Crosby

Bing Comes a Cropper

Bing Crosby's debut on television—long awaited, long planned, widely advertised as an event roughly comparable to the development of the hydrogen bomb—was an unqualified disappointment.

J. CROSBY

Why this was, I can't imagine. Crosby watched television closely for years, thought long and deeply about the format he would eventually employ and took his own sweet time about getting into it—in order, I imagine, to let the others make the early mistakes.

And in spite of all that thought and preparation, this show had nothing at all. It wasn't funny. It wasn't very melodic. It rambled pointlessly all over the place. And what is far more serious, the Crosby charm, which can fill the Music Hall or your livingroom, was simply not there at all.

AS TO THE ABSENCE of the latter, I have a theory. The Crosby show was on film which was a terrible mistake. Crosby has been on television only once before (excepting a brief sight gag on a Bob Hope show), on a telethon. It was a live show and Crosby was a very winning and poised performer. He is one of quickest and most sure-footed ad libbers in the business and he proved that he can handle himself in front of a live camera with the best of them.

So why film? Well, for one thing, Crosby pionieered the development of taped radio shows. He broke the network ban against transcribed shows so thoroughly that many radio shows are now on tape. There's no doubt there was considerable improvement in the technical quality of taped shows which could eliminate fluffs, smooth out rough spots and free the performer from the terrible tyranny of the stop watch.

BUT TAPE AND FILM are two quite different things. I hate to labor that old word spontaneity, but no filmed show yet has captured the spontaniety of live televisioin. And Crosby, of all performers, needs that air of spontaniety and freshness and I'm-just - making - it - all - up - as-I-go-along quality which made his radio show such a joy.

The Crosby show opened with a monologue in front of a curtain and a grave mistake that was. He should have opened singing.) It wasn't a very funny monologue, but it was greeted by the most uproarious and spurious laughter I've ever heard, even in an age noted for the phoniness and meaninglessness of studio audience laughter.

I can't think where they dug up this old laughter—borrowed it, maybe, from one of the old Road pictures which were pretty funny. At any rate it was very old laughter, bearing no relationship whatsoever to what was going on on the screen, and it kept booming forth throughout the half hour, enfuriating and insulting the intelligence of millions of viewers.

FROM THERE MR. C. proceeded into a hillbilly song and dance called "Y'All Come" which was so all-fired wholesome and twangy that it made me a little ill. Wholesomeness, I figured, is going to get a big play on the Crosby shows. I couldn't have been wronger, though. A few minutes later Miss Sheree North, a blonde dancer, who can sure fill a dress, came aboard on the arm of Mr. Jack Benny After a bit of not terribly funny palaver between Crosby and Mr. Benny, Miss North tore off her dress—she had something on under it but not much—and did the closest thing to a bump and grind I've seen since they closed Minsky's. Something for everyone in this show—the kiddies, the bald-headed row, everybody.

Crosby did sing two very good songs—"It Had To Be You" and "I Love Paris" — but without any special distinction. I'm afraid I can say nothing good about this show. There will be more Crosby shows in the future but just when they'll come along CBS has no idea. I suggest they drop this film into the Pacific Ocean and start all over again, live.

Incidentally, every entertainer including Crosby who has succumbed to television, has on his first appearance spoken of "this new medium." Listen, kids, it isn't so new any more. In fact, already it's got a few gray hairs.

Army Vehicle Capable Of Carrying Locomotive

NEW YORK (UP)—A huge amphibious "truck" that can highball a locomotive over water or desert is being developed by the Army's Transportation Corps.

Steelways, magazine of American Iron and Steel Institute, says the Barc, as it is known, will be used to bring greater mobility to heavy war gear in beach-head operations.

Made largely of steel and equipped with 10-foot tires, the Barc will be capable of hauling up to 120 tons in weight. It has an overall length of 61 feet and is driven in water by twin screws. If the rudders fail, its engines can steer it.

Despite its tremendous proportions, the Barc requires only a single operator on land or sea.

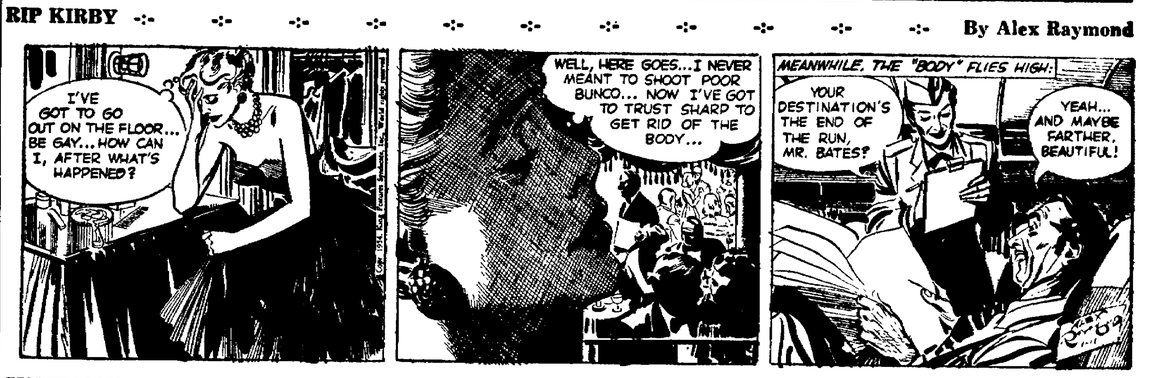
THE SIGHT OF A RUSTED, PEARL-HANDLED AUTOMATIC IS TOO MUCH FOR PONY! SHE "SPILLS."
KINCAID WAS TOO GOOD FOR ME. I DIDN'T DESERVE HIM!
I CONSPIRED WITH AN OIL FIELD ROUSTABOUT TO KILL HIM—AND COLLECT HIS HALF MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF LIFE INSURANCE.
THIS ROUSTABOUT NAMED YONSON WAS SUPPOSED TO DROP A STEEL BEAM ON KINCAID—AS THOUGH ACCIDENTAL—
THEN HE AND I WERE TO SPLIT THE 500 THOUSAND—
TAKE IT EASY, PONY. HERE—HAVE SOME COFFEE. WE'VE GOT LOTS OF TIME.

RIP KIRBY By Alex Raymond

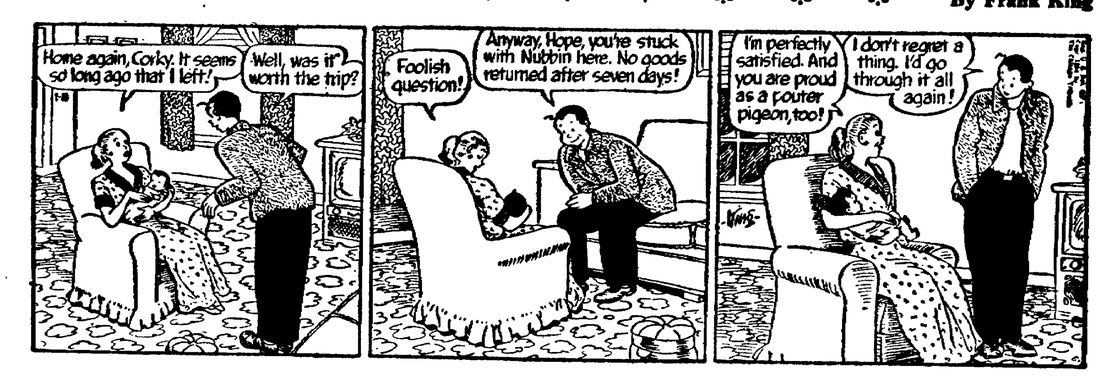


I'VE GOT TO GO OUT ON THE FLOOR... BE GAY... HOW CAN I, AFTER WHAT'S HAPPENED?
WELL, HERE GOES... I NEVER MEANT TO SHOOT POOR BUNCO... NOW I'VE GOT TO TRUST SHARD TO GET RID OF THE BODY...
MEANWHILE, THE "BODY" FLIES HIGH:
YOUR DESTINATION'S THE END OF THE RUN, MR. BATES?
YEAH... AND MAYBE FARTHER, BEAUTIFUL!

SUPERMAN By Wayne Boring

IT WAS ODD THE WAY SUPERMAN BEHAVED AT THE BENEFIT YESTERDAY, LOIS. ALMOST AS IF--AS IF--
--AS IF HE'D LOST HIS POWERS. IS THAT WHAT YOU MEAN, CHIEF?
YES--THAT'S IT EXACTLY. I--I--ER--EXCUSE ME! GOOD HEAVENS--LOOK WHAT'S HAPPENING ACROSS THE STREET!
THERE WOULD BE AN INTERRUPTION--JUST WHEN I WAS FINDING OUT HOW MUCH THEY SUSPECT OF SUPERMAN'S WEAKNESS!
THE FRONT WALL OF THAT BUILDING THE CITY CONDEMNED LAST WEEK--IT'S STARTING TO BUCKLE!
OH-OH--HAVE TO DO SOMETHING FAST BEFORE THAT WALL COLLAPSES INTO THE CROWDED STREET!
WHY--HERE I AM SWITCHING TO SUPERMAN--OUT OF FORCE OF HABIT! YET--WITHOUT MY STRENGTH--WHAT CAN I DO--EXCEPT--WELL--ONLY ONE THING!

GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King



Home again, Corky. It seems so long ago that I left!
Well, was it worth the trip?
Foolish question!
Anyway, Hope, you're stuck with Nubbin here. No goods returned after seven days!
I'm perfectly satisfied. And you are proud as a pouter pigeon, too!
I don't regret a thing. I'd go through it all again!
